SANTA ARRIVES HERE MONDAY

SAN FRANCISCO'S BROADWAY TUNNEL project will use two of these telescopic steel tunnel forms for pouring and setting cement. The tunnel form shown weighs 45 tons and is 44 feet long and 28½ feet wide. The two steel forms and a 14-ton hydraulically operated traveler (shown inside the form) were fabricated at the Vernon, Calif., Plant of Consolidated Western Steel Corporation, a United States Steel subsidiary, for the general contractor, Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc. The traveler is used to move and set the steel forms in place. Concrete is poured through ports in the forms. While the concrete is setting around the exterior of one form, the traveler is used to collapse the other form, move it ahead, and expand it in place for the next pour. Each of the twin tunnel bores is 1632 feet long.

Phones Jerked Out In Four Suspected Bookie Joints

Four suspected bookie joints in Daly City are out of operation today following loss of their phones last week, Chief of Police W. W. Sunderland reported today.

Chief Sundarland ordered the phones removed as part of what he termed "routine work."

"We are always on the lookout for suspected bookie joints, and when we believe there is any reason at all to think they are in operation we ask that their phones be removed," Chief Sunderland explained.

When there is reason to believe phones are being used for illegal purposes they may be removed under the State Public Utilities Commission law.

Chief Sunderland indicated that as actual prosecution of the suspected bookies would not necessarily hold up in court for lack of proof, he thought it best to stop them by removing the telephones.

He said the phones were jerked from some homes and places of semi-business.

Chief Sundarland concluded that there was nothing unusual in last week's action, as taking out telephones is an old and tried method of putting suspected bookies out of operation.

OVER 3,000 CHILDREN ARE EXPECTED TO ATTEND ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY

Three Local Theatres Throw Open Their Doors For Kids And Santa

By EARLE JOHNSON

Paying a pre-Christmas visit to Daly City, Santa Claus will be on hand Monday, December 15 for the big, annual Christmas party to which all local children are invited.

Santa is making a special trip to Daly City, and will put in an appearance at the Daly City, Crest and Serra Theatres.

Where to Go

The Daly City Theatre will be the spot for you youngsters attending Crocker, General Pershing and OLPH to go. The Crest Theatre will handle you people from Woodrow Wilson, Jefferson, Thornton and OLPH. The Serra Theatre will take care of the children from Garden Village School and OLPH.

Please note that OLPH has been named in connection with all three theatres, this is because these youngsters live all over the city and they are supposed to attend the theatre nearest their homes.

The parties will start at approximately 12:30 p.m. and run until 3:30 p.m. Santa Claus will be at each of the three parties to see all of the children of Daly City attending. Santa warns that you boys and girls should be on your best behavior or he might forget you when he comes around Christmas night.

PTA' Help

Organizations assisting with the Christmas Parties are: Colma PTA, Crocker PTA, General Pershing PTA, James Snell PTA, Woodrow Wilson PTA, O.L.P.H. Mother's Club and the Daly City Women's Civic Club. The parties are sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department each year and this year's parties should be bigger and better than ever.

Tickets for the shows will be issued at the various schools and the children are reminded to bring these tickets to the parties for their admission.

Pre-school youngsters may attend if they are with an older brother or sister.

If you have a youngster who is not attending school, and who does not have an older brother or sister attending school, this youngster will be admitted if the parent attends also.

COUNCIL PUTS OFF TALK OF STATE DEFENSE PLANS

Councilmun Claims Warren Plan "Vague"

Daly City councilmen postponed discussion and approval of Governor Earl Warren's recent civilian defense program in their regular meeting Monday night at City Hall.

Councilman Edward Mooney asked that the matter be rejected because the proposal as presented from Sacramento was "rather vague in detail."

The council then voted to take up the vital consideration when they next meet.

Warren's edict, which requires approval of small local government units, provides the basic framework for mutual defense in case of natural or war-caused disasters.

All Involved

The emergency-preparedness project involves local, county, state, and regional cooperation in meeting crises, be they international or local in scope.

Warren's plan, designated the California Civil Defense Master Mutual Aid Agreement, is a prearranged scheme of mutual protection.

The present world crisis, with possibilities of atomic devastation, has placed home defense on a level of greatest importance.

Interchange of services and facilities, including fire department, police, medical, health, communication, and transportation is planned to cope with rescue and relief work, evacuation, rehabilitation, and reconstruction, should they be necessary.

All small cities and communities, similar to Daly City, are asked to abide by the Warren plan to coordinate state defense.

Other Action

In other Council action this week, five candidates were approved as "eligibles" for police patrolman duties as of January 2. James Baird tops the list, followed by William Freeman, Jr., John Coleman, Albert V. Conci and Melvin Hanson. The men will get priority in the event the Daly City Police Department needs more help.

Mayor Green's proposal to contribute $75.00 to the Old Glory Post VFW's Christmas fund met unanimous consent. The money will go for special equipment for veterans in the Palo Alto Veterans' Hospital.

Two bids were presented for the installation of a water main across Junipero Serra boulevard south of Knowles avenue. Callaghan Construction Co. of Daly City sub-

CIVILIAN COUNTY DEFENSE PLANNING BOARD ELECTED

Group Hits Snag Over Finances

The first step in San Mateo county civilian defense was taken last Thursday evening when representatives of county cities formed a joint city-county planning board for civilian defense.

Mayor Paul Green was one of many county officials named as a member of the planning board. He was also chosen as a member of the steering committee.

Immediately upon organization of the board members approved a resolution binding the cities and the county to mutual aid in case of disaster or enemy attack.

This resolution must be ratified by the Daly City council. It may run into a wall here, as some councilmen have expressed objection to appointment of a county civilian defense coordinator . . . one of the principal issues of the resolution.

Financial Woes

Councilmen here, as throughout the county, don't wish to bind their cities to an agreement which will mean putting up funds to pay the salary of a coordinator.

In fact, throughout all of Thursday's meeting there was a reluctance of city or county representatives to bind themselves to financial help. The problem seems to be: shall the cities put up the money, or shall the board of supervisors allocate funds raised by general taxation?

The steering committee will meet in the near future to discuss the problems brought up at Thursday night's meeting.

FULL TIME FIRE DEPARTMENT GOES INTO SERVICE HERE JANUARY 1st

Six Men And Chief To Work During Daylight Hours To Augment Volunteers

Daly City's first full time fire department will go into operation here January 1. A fire chief and six firemen will work days from the Company No. 2 firehouse at Santa Barbara and Parkview.

Elmer Kennedy, who now heads the volunteer fire department, will step into the job of Fire Chief. The six firemen are to be chosen by the city council from a list of 16 applicants from the volunteer department.

It is expected that full details for the department will be worked out at the caucus meeting of the city council December 18.

Decision Made

The decision to form a full time company was based on the one weakness in the present volunteer set up . . . that is, during the days most of the volunteer firemen are working and not available for fires.

The new force, which will be enlarged in the years to come, will meet the needs of the community during the daylight hours. Firemen, who will be paid from $270 to $300 a month, will be on duty seven days a week on a 50 hour basis.

Status Quo

Members of the volunteer fire department will retain their present status and when ever possible will assist the regular department. Volunteers will be counted on to fight all fires during the hours the regular department is off duty.

No decision has been made as to whom will replace Kennedy as assistant works superintendent for Daly City. However, it is expected someone will be named to take over this job in the near future.

Daly City Marine Is Wounded In NE Korea Fighting

Recovering today from wounds he suffered while battling the Chinese at the Changjin reservoir section in northeast Korea is Jim Bricker, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bricker 313 Peoria.

The former Jefferson High School student was among the thousands of marines of the First Marine Division trapped near the reservoir early in December.

In a letter written to his family, Jim said he was wounded a few days after the Chinese offensive opened. He reported he suffered wounds of the face and leg, bad enough to keep him tied down to a hospital bed in Japan for the next three to four months.

As the marines were cut off from any help, Jim was one of the hundreds of wounded men flown out of the treacherous trap.

Meanwhile, Leo Bricker, 18-year-old brother of Jim indicated today that he would soon be leaving with a marine corps unit for Korea. He is now stationed in southern California.

Also Fred Bricker Jr., now employed as an apprentice printer for the Daly City Record, has joined the Army Air Force and will leave for active duty early in January.

DC Records Second Traffic Fatality

Daly City's second traffic fatality of the year was recorded Friday evening when a 68-year-old pensioner was struck and killed by an automobile on Mission street, 153 feet north of the Bank of America crosswalk.

Rushed to Junipero Serra hospital, Dominic Guagliardo, 15 Shakespeare street, was pronounced dead on arrival.

The well known Daly City man had just stepped off the curb in the 6200 block of Mission when he was struck by the car driven by Aldo Ferraris, 1348 Williams avenue, San Bruno.

Driver Questioned

Ferraris was questioned by the district attorney's office, and has been released pending further investigation of the case, Daly City police report.

When questioned Ferraris told officers that Guagliardo "suddenly loomed up in front" of his car, and he could not stop. As the driver braked to a halt, Guagliardo struck the hood of the car and was thrown 15 feet in front of the machine.

A retired gardener, Guagliardo was an old time resident of Daly City. He is survived by six children, including Michael, Anthony, Ignatius, Joseph and Mrs. Marie Labue.

San Mateo County Draft Quota Almost Doubled In January

Considering the increase in draft calls announced this week from Washington, it was estimated today that 200 San Mateo county men will be called up next month.

Previous calls were for 66 men in September, 60 in October and 83 in November. Another 55 men will go into the service December 22.

About one-half of the 200 men will come from northern San Mateo, including the Daly City area.

By February, it is expected that 500 men will be in uniform from San Mateo county.

The 200 estimate is based on the percentage from this county undrevious draft calls.

National quotas were doubled this week from 40,000 to 80,000 for January.

B'dmr. Water Rates May Go Up 40 pct.

Indicative of what Broadmoor residents can expect if the new water hikes go through, Burlingame announced this week that their water bills may go up as high as 40 per cent.

Both communities are served by water purchased from San Francisco where officials are planning to put through final increased rates February 1.

An official of the Burlingame Water Commission noted that while consumer rates will go up at least one third, they may well "run to 40 per cent."

TROMBORG TO GIVE FREE XMAS CANDY TO KIDDIES NEXT WEEK

Santa Claus is coming to town. And soon, too.

Tom Tromborg, proprietor of Tromborg's Plumbing, Daly City, will act like old St. Nick next week with a special offer to boys and girls.

He won't be dressed like the jolly, red-suited gentleman, but Tom will perform a similar role.

For he's giving away 500 bags of Christmas candy ABSOLUTELY FREE on a first-come-first-serve basis.

Youngsters only may call for the candy at 6512 Mission street beginning Monday, December 18. The offer is good until Thursday, December 21.

"Budget Saving Store" Undergoes Remodeling Job

To mark a thorough remodeling job of the Budget Saving Store, at 6001 Mission st., Joe Fresenborg, the proprietor, is staging a gala celebration this weekend.

Some 48 baskets of food will be given away on Saturday and a number of widely known foods will be distributed to all customers.

Plus these features, Joe has taken a full page advertisement in the Daly City Record and Shopping News, with outstanding prices to aid the family budget.

Said Joe, "We have really outdone ourselves to make this store one of the most atractive in this vicinity. Our sale prices will be the very lowest possible and the shop has been greatly improved.

"We have gone to considerable expense to obtain the finest shelves for stocking food on the market today. Every item is easily accessible and visible.

"Again, we have worked with experts to arrange our shelves and aisles so that our layout now is the last word in simplicity. This should prove of pronounced value to the overly busy housewife.

"It also should be noted that we have installed a massive walk-in refrigerator for our meats. Although very costly, this will assure the ladies of top quality viands for their tables."

Joe said that the policy of his three stores, the other two at 6386 Mission st. and 820 Cortland Ave., is to give the most for the money—that is large sales with a small margin of profit.

Men Needed Now For State Defense

The California Defense and Security Corps has been authorized to recruit immediately to full strength, for both officers and enlisted men.

This announcement was made today by Col. Walter R. Shoaff who commands the 5th group, comprising the 13th, 14th and 15th Battalions assigned to Northern California.

"The purpose of the 5th Group is to assume the duties of the National Guard as its units are called into Federal service," Col. Shoaff said.

He points out that membership in the California Defense and Security Corps will not exempt those subject to draft. However, those interested should contact their nearest Battalion headquarters. All American citizens of good character between the ages of 17 and 70 are eligible for membership. Uniforms and equipment are provided by the State for all enlisted personnel.

The 14th Battalion, assigned to San Mateo, is commanded by Lt. Col. Leo L. Connolly of Menlo Park. Battalion Headquarters is in the National Guard Armory, 420 Peninsula Ave., where the unit meets each Wednesday evening.

Give Santa Claus A Helping Hand... Donate A Toy

Santa Claus will visit 20 families in Daly City this Christmas who he might otherwise have overlooked without prompting from the Daly City Lions Club.

Thanks to the Lions, and the hundreds of contributions of toys, canned goods and children's clothing, it will be a merry Christmas for the 20 needy families.

However, the Lions still need some assistance. Today they welcomed any further contributions of toys and clothing that the public wishes to make. Those who want to give Santa a helping hand are asked to drop off their contributions at either the Daly City Cleaner or the Daly City Theatre. Colma residents may leave their items at Neville Motors.

Truck Ready

And for those who never get away from the house, or who have too much to carry, a call to PL. 5-5261 will bring a truck to pick up their contributions.

It is planned that the day before Christmas Santa will deliver his Christmas baskets to the various families.

Meanwhile, this Saturday evening, in the dance hall above the Daly City Theatre, the Lions are staging a dance to secure still more toys. The only price of admission to Lions and their invited friends is a toy.

A WORLD OF WOE

Things could be worse, and if you don't believe us, tune into any "John Hates Mary" type of soap opera that comes over the air wave each morning.

The other day we had the misfortune to hear a few minutes of one of the more popular tear jerkers. Just for the heck of it we timed the number of misfortunes that struck the characters in the six minutes between commercials. It started out with dear John, a man driven to drink by an overloving wife who jast can't understand why John prefers nags and morphine to one of her meals, roundly cursing Mary for failing to empty the ashtrays.

Mary, in a voice between a sob and a sigh, explained that after all she had nine children to feed and somehow there just weren't enough hours to get around to dumping the ash trays. (Regular listeners are aware that John doesn't work, and Mary supports the family by such devious means as taking in washing and chucking the banker under his six chins.)

About this time little Harry falls down the stairs, breaking his leg and almost putting out the eye of big footed Slue, his sister, with a pair of scissors he was using to

ERNEST RUTTER RETIRES FROM P.G.E

Last Tuesday, December 12, was an average day for most Daly City residents but for Ernest Rutter, manager of the local PG&E office it was a landmark in service.

When he closed the door of the offices on Wellington avenue Tuesday evening Rutter had shut a 34-year-old chapter in his life and began the years of retirement.

"It's a little hard to believe after all this time," the mild mannered gentleman said today," "but I'm growing tired and the rest will do me good."

Service Years

As he spoke, he fingered a gold pin in his lapel. The pin had two diamonds and is the token of more than 30 years of loyal service to the PG&E.

"You see these two diamonds," he said, "well, I would have got a third if I'd stayed another 10 years. But that's impossible. It's mandatory to retire at 65."

Rutter, a thin, slightly gray haired man, looks far from his 65-years. He won't admit it, but many a married man in Daly City believes Rutter looks so young because for his 65 years he managed to escape the long walk down the church aisle to the marriage altar.

London Born

While he never had the inclination to make that "long marital trip," Rutter has travelled quite a deal in his time. In 1907, just one year after the great fire, the 22-year-old Englishman stepped off the boat from London on the piers of San Francisco.

"When I say travelled, I don't mean around the world, but rather here in the Bay Area," Rutter explained in a low, tense voice.

His "travels" began when he got a job as a gas lamp maintenance man. This work carried him all over San Francisco repairing the now gone gas lamps that lighted the streets.

New Job

Soon a larger gas company and

AIR FORCE ACADEMY CONSIDERS SITE AT HALF MOON BAY

Now under consideration as a possible site for the proposed U. S. Air Force Academy is the Half Moon Bay airport at Moss Beach, it was learned today.

A government selection board is to meet in San Francisco shortly to investigate the possible sites in the Bay area. It is now inspecting prospective sites in Washington state.

Frank E. Marsh, general manager of the San Francisco Bay Area Council Inc., said he would appear before the board and speak favorably for the Half Moon Bay site.

cut up the drapes.

But this is nothing compared to the plight of neighbor Mrs. Hagfish who has just dashed into the six room shack to tell Mary that her older son Dick has been apprehended while walking out of the back door of a bank with half the establishment's pens and blotters.

Mary, representative of stern, heroic American womanhood, clasps her hands ,sobs and then forces what radio listeners can take to be a 14 karat smile. "All," she exclaims, "is not lost. As long as my name is Mary Cassidy, all is not lost."

And with this valiant cry, in the face of fate, the announcer comes on booming out the values of washing your face only with soap and not lye.

So, we ask you, how can the atom bomb do any real harm to a world stealed to soap box operas? If you can take more than five minutes of "John Hates Mary" you can face the atom bomb with confidence.

COFFEE AND BUFFALO

Where the Injuns and cowboys succeeded in killing off the buffalo in the great open spaces, inflation is rapidly depleting the use of the shaggy beasts who grace the coins of the realm.

First the five cent piece met a defeat when cigars shot up to the dime level. The next great blow was the nickel beer. Recently there's even been some talk of jumping the price of the other American drink . . . pop.

Coffee, which used to be a nickel regardless of how many refills, is generally tabbed at a dime. However, most joints are generous enough to allow only a nickel squeeze for the refill.

Imagine, then, our grief when after downing two cups of coffee at a local cafe the gent at the cash register rang up 21 cents. Now an extra nickel or dime isn't so important, but its the principle of the thing that really hurts. We're glad to see anyone make a reasonable profit, but, gad, 10 cents for a second cup is too, too much.

While we've just about given up the idea of using the nickel, we'll be d—— if we're going to surrender all our rights. Besides, if coffee is going that high, a customer might as well get his money's worth by switching to 10 cent beer.

lack of funds caught up with the company by which Rutter was employed, and he found himself out of a job. Looking over the situation, the young Englishman decided that if the larger gas company had put him out of work they should be willing to give him a job.

Much to his surprise the company did just that, and on April 1, 1917, Rutter went to work as an inspector in San Jose for PG&E.

One year later he had graduated onto a bike and and could be seen peddling for all he was worth between Palo Alto and Redwood City. Along with the bike went the title of collector.

Bike Work

"I used to work up quite a sweat pumping my bike between the various Peninsula towns," Rutter recalls. "However, it was a fine way to see the country."

Of course collecting then isn't what it is today, and men had more time for the effort it takes to keep a bike going. Rutter remembers that Daly City at time had a population of some 3,000 and many of the coast side communities were little more than a few shacks on the road.

When I collected in the northern part of the county they gave me a carriage and horse," Rutter said.

It wasn't long before the horse gave way to the automobile, and Rutter was moved up to the job of office relief. In this position he went from office to office on the Peninsula, filling in wherever he was needed.

Comes To Daly City

Then in 1928, just 11 years after he had put in his first day with PG&E, Rutter was named as office manager for Daly City. He has been here ever since.

"I've watched this community grow from almost nothing into the thriving city it is today," he recalled.

And in no small part Rutter is responsible for the growth of Daly City.

Asked what he plans to do now that he's retired, Rutter simply said: "rest." He went on to explain that present war conditions have left him unsettled as to future plans.

Final Tribute

Just then a woman entered the office. Evidently a long time customer of PG&E. She paid her bill, and on leaving took time to say to Rutter!

"We shall certainly miss you. In all these years you've been a perfect gentleman, a real friend, and always helpful."

No finer tribute could be paid to any man, especially as the lady voiced the opinion of all of Daly City.

Rezoning

Three rezoning measures received approval. Bepler street, site of the soon-to-be-built post office, and Wellington and Irvington streets, were changed from "residential" classification to "commercial."

Citrus avenue, betwteen Mission and Miriam streets, was switched from commercial to residential.

Resolutions for payment were authorized to Mario Ciampi, architect of the War Memorial building, and R. A. Klassen, city engineer, for construction of Marchbank district sewers.

The council approved ordinances to vacate portions of First street and to designate Mission Circle as a one-way street.

DC Band Members Off To The War

The day is not far off when a Daly City Concert Band will gain respect as a cherished and meaningful tradition.

The Korean Crisis half-depleted the ranks of the present civic musical group but Bandmaster George Brenner envisions hopes of a bright future.

"With the completion of the War Memorial Building, the importance of a municipal band notably will be increased. We want to present a series of annual concerts for the citizens of this area and the new structure fits in just right. The spirit and purpose behind the War Memorial project should instili the public with the desirability of maintaining a well-organized city band."

Brenner, in sounding the call for replacements, this week voiced his expectations.

He encourages any and all persons in Colma and Daly City with band experience to join his contingent.

Currently, band members average 16 years of age, but age is no barrier, he said.

Former band members now in the service include Frank Tringali, Bill Gfroerer, Raymond Simmons, James White, Fred DaScalla, Glen Wilkie, Arthur and William Schembria, Earnest Thompson, Vernon Olson, Robert Johnson, Ben Imprescia, Albert Drake, Jim Lauffenberger and Bill Freeman.

All were regular members with more than four years of band service.

Put The Blame On A Girl And Car

Cooling his heels in jail today, Jimmy Graham, 21 of San Francisco lays all his troubles to a bad car and a girl friend.

Graham was picked up in Westlake last Friday evening in a stolen automobile. A special Westlake officer made the arrest.

Taken to the Daly City police station, Graham explained:

He had just bought a car Thursday and was taking his 16-year-old girl friend for a spin in Millbrae. Suddenly the car conked out.

After he had vainly tried to get it started, Graham took his lady friend by the arm, walked up the block and allegedly stepped into an automobile owned by Edward J. Tyndall, 149 Ashton avenue, Millbrae.

Tyndall discovered his loss a few minutes later, and an all point bulletin was put out. Graham and his girl friend were stopped at the Skyline boulevard near Westlake.

Now Graham is in jail, and his girl friend is being held by juvenile authorities. However, it's nothing new to the San Francisco youth who, according to Daly City police, admitted previous arrest for the same offense.

Lucca Market Now Offers Its Own Fine Olive Oil

No finer olive oil in the world. That's the general reaction today when customers first savor the new olive oil now being imported and packed by Lucca Market, 7320 Mission.

Packed in a bright yellow tin, the oil can be recognized by the title "Pasquales." The fresh, new product is named after the manager and owner of Lucca Market, Pasquale Stanghellini.

Eliminating the middle man, Stanghellini and Son can assure the customer of the finest olive oil obtainable at the best prices. In fact, they are so sure their olive oil is superior that today Tom Stanghellini gave this guarantee:

"If a customer is not entirely satisfied with Pasqueles Olive Oil, he may return the oil and his money will be refunded in full. There will be no 'if' or 'buts' about the matter."

When Pasqueles Olive Oil went on sale last Saturday, the first customer to purchase not one, but six gallons, was Daly City Councilman A. J. Gaggero.

"I'm completely satisfied with the olive oil. It's by far the best I've purchased in many years," Gaggero said.

Try it yourself. You'll agree there's none finer than Pasquales Olive Oil.

Watch this paper early next month for an announcement of new products on sale at Lucca Market.

Diagonal Parking Outlawed Here

All diagonal parking in Daly City will be outlawed in favor of parallel parking when the new meters have been installed here, Orrin Wendling, adminstrative officer, noted today.

The parking meters have been so arranged as to allow two cars to park parallel to the curb with either a 15 foot space behind, or in front of the vehicle, depending on its position. This arrangement will allow cars to park and leave with ease.

Officers will begin giving tickets to those who fail to observe the proper type of parking immediately after the meters have been installed.

"The spaces are clearly marked, and I can see no reason why any driver should be confused," Wendling said.

The first of the meters will go into operation before Christmas, and it is expected all meters will be installed by January 1. About 400 of the meters are going in Daly City's business district and adjoining streets.

Couple Get Court Award Of $12,500 For Car Accident

The aftermath of an automobile accident three years ago came Tuesday night in the form of a $12,500 damage suit award in Redwood City Superior Court.

The jury in Superior Judge A. R. Cotton's court returned a verdict giving the amount to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sartori, well-known Lomita Park residents, for injuries suffered in a two-car collision on El Camino highway, August 26, 1947.

The plaintiffs charged negligence against two defendants as being responsible for the crash. As a result, the Sartoris were severely injured with broken ribs, head injuries, and concussions.

The plaintiffs alleged in their complaint, filed by Daly City Attorney Thomas Bocci Jr. in December, 1947, that both George Wagner and Frozen Food Products Inc. were responsible for the mishap.

According to the Sartoris, a Frozen Food Products truck was parked on El Camino highway in Lomita Park on the east side of the highway and obstructed the intersection at that point. When the Sartori vehicle attempted to enter El Camino on from the east, a collision resulted with a car driven by Wagner, who, allegedly drove into the "blind" intersection without caution in the northbound traffic lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Sartori asked $25,000 in damages when the case went to trial last Thursday, December 7. They listed $400 damage to their car and $300 for hospital bills.

After four days of testimony and four hours of jury deliberation, the plaintiffs were awarded $12,500.

A MOMENT OF TIME

It takes only a moment to write a check or slip some bills in an envelope. If the envelope is addressed to the San Mateo County Tuberculosis and Health Association, that brief moment may help save a life.

Some of us neglected to take that moment to acknowledge our Christmas Seals when we received them in our mail. It is easy to put something like this aside during the busy, pre-Christmas days. But it is not too late to take a moment off to make our return for the Seals.

Funds realized from the sale of Christmas Seals are the sole financial support of the association in its work to bring tuberculosis under complete control in our community. The activities of the association include such worthwhile projects as the free x-ray program of children, adults and foster home parents, Veterans services, as well as the rehabilitation program now being financed in the county Tuberculosis Hospital for tuberculous patients.

Continuation of these activities may make the difference between life and death to some of our residents. Surely all of us want to support the work of our tuberculosis association. It will take but a moment to tell the association we are back of its life-saving program, only a moment to acknowledge our Christmas Seals.

GIVE NOW TO HELP THE XMAS BASKET DRIVE CONDUCTED BY VARIOUS PTAs

Thanks to the efforts and labors of a grand bunch of willing workers, the various PTA units of the Jefferson Elementary School District are continuing the phenomenal success of their Christmas Basket Drive.

The canned goods, used clothing and toys that you good people have contributed have been most gratefully received, sorted and put in order.

Of course, there is the small matter of toy repair—some men are badly needed who will volunteer to repair at least one toy—there seems to be nothing seriously wrong with any of them, just little things, a wheel here and a screw there.

So—any of you boys having an evening to spare in a wonderful cause may please call Mrs. Wm. Beck, PL. 5-0183, Mrs. Brugge, PL. 5-4261, or Mrs. Duste', PL. 5-1865, and however many toys you can handle will be readied for you to pick up.

The food situation is good—but not good enough. The meat fund is lacking slightly over 100. Sounds like a staggering sum, but it needn't be if each of the readers of this article would contribute 50 cents, or even 25 cents. Remember, these funds go toward meat orders for the twenty families of the Jefferson Elementary School District who are being supplied with Christmas baskets through the efforts of the PTA Units of that District.

Contributions may be mailed to Mrs. Wm. Beck, 431 89th Street, Colma 25, California, or may be left at the Daly City Record office, where they will be picked up promptly.

Please remember—without your contribution the meat portion of these baskets will be a poor representation of the rest. So let's have a final showing of that wonderful spirit of the people of our area—Broadmoor, Garden Village, Daly City and Westlake—to show these families that, in supply ourselves with a Merry Christmas, we have not forgotten them.

BAYSHORE VISITACION VALLEY

By Bernice Hendryx JUniper 4-6449

Have you noticed that we have a new cop on the beat? Mrs. Pearl Butler has been temporarily appointed by the High way State Patrol to supervise the crossing at Geneva and Schwerin for school children.

Come rain or shine, Pearl holds down the corner before school, during lunch, and when school gets out. The State Patrol explained that this was a temporary appointment, pending a written examination. Anyone else that is interested in taking this examination can contact the Highway State Patrol offices in San Mateo County for the date of the examination.

Troop 42 of the Girls Scouts had their investiture ceremony last week. The 7th and 8th grade girls were the interested parties, and Sandra Bowers and Jo Ann Kahn were invested. Co-leader of the Girls Scouts here, Gladys Stoneking, received her pin also. The Girls Scouts will hold their Xmas party on Dec. 21, at 7:30 p.m. The party will be held at the home of Mrs. Stoneking. The girls have drawn names to exchange gifts, and refreshments will be served. At the present time, the girls are holding their meetings at the home of Mrs. Dunham, our leader of Troop 42.

Replacement

Still haven't heard who will replace Carl Garrison, Secretary-manager of the Cow Palace, who resigned his job last week. Carl will stay on the job until a suitable successor can be found to fill the post, then he will take a job of managing an estate. Carl is well thought of, and many are sorry to see him bow out. It will take a good man to fill his shoes.

Ethel Higgins, daughter of Claude and Anna Higgins, was married last week. She married Thomas Maples, who is now in the Army. Ethel will make her home temporarily in Kansas, where Thomas is stationed.

Mrs. Pearl Butler, Den Mother of Cub Den One, has given up her Den to Mrs. Plise. Mrs. Butler proposes to continue her activities in Cubs, by assisting the new Den Mother.

Cubs At Work

Our Cubs at present, are busy working on construction of crystal sets. These little receiving sets can pick up local radio stations. Sounds like good training for the youngsters.

The Bayshore PTA meeting that was held the afternoon of Dec. 8, had a reasonably good turn-out, considering the weather. Reverend Widenham of the Baptist Church spoke on unity in our community, and stressed cooperation between school and parents. At present, membership in the Bayshore PTA numbers 210. New members are cordially invited.

District Meet

Eight of the Bayshore PTA members attended the district meeting at Brisbane. Seems to show an increased interest in what's going on.

An Improvement Club meeting will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 22, at 8 p.m. New officers will be elected for the coming year.

Nothing like a few fussy children in the house in this weather and with Christmas shopping an added headache. Several cases of chicken pox have been reported in the neighborhood, so hold your breath and temper Mother, and watch for pimples.

The L. Higgins family had a houseful of company Sunday. All relations from Lodi taking advantage of a nice weekend.

Federal Grants

Miss Lipman, Bayshore School Superintendent, attended a meeting in Sacramento recently, to learn more about these Federal Grants to overcrowded school districts. Dr. Charles Bursch, chief of Division of School House Planning for California spoke, and introduced Dr. Oddie, representative of the U. S. Dept. of Education from Washington. Dr. Oddie spoke on what a district must do to be eligible for Federal Aid. He stated that there was only $25,000,000 available this year for the entire United States. All in all, this is a very small amount to work with. He bluntly informed the representatives present that in all probability, one out of every five districts that applied would not receive monies.

It might be mentioned that Bayshore is in a relatively good position to receive monies for school buildings. Thirty-eight per cent of Bayshore Elementary School enrollment is from children whose parents are living on Federal land, or are employed on Federal Land, which seems to be a telling argument for receiving Federal Aid for new schools.

Sermon Topic

Sunday morning service at the Bayshore Baptist Church will include the topic "Building for Eternity." Sunday evening there will be a musical program, with the choir singing selections from Handel's Messiah. A Christmas party for the kiddies will be held Friday, Dec. 22, at 7:30 p.m. On Dec. 21, there will be an adult get aquainted progressive diner. By that we mean that the group will go to one house for soup, then on to another for salad, another for appetizers, another for the main course, etc. Anyone interested in taking part in this, contact Reverend Widenham, at JU. 5-4947.

The Christmas service at the Baptist Church on Sunday, Dec. 24, will be at the usual time, 10:15 in the morning. The evening will be combined fellowship service, from 7 to 8. This is a little earlier than usual, but the booster band, under the leadership of Stewart Foster, will be in charge, and soon after eight o'clock, they intend to go caroling in the neighborhood. Listen for them on Christmas Eve.

Defense Group Seeks Volunteers

The program for "home-defense" in San Mateo County got rolling last week with a call for volunteers issued by the San Mateo County Defense and Security Corps.

The Defense and Security Corps is to take over home guard duties when the National Guard is called up.

Three companies will be formed in San Mateo County. They will take over existing National Guard facilities in San Bruno, San Mateo and Redwood City, according to Lt. Col. J. L. Connolly, commander of the 19th Battalion of the California Defense and Security Corps.

Any veteran between 17 and 70 is eligible for duty with the Defense and Security Corps, Colonel Connolly said. The veterans may have served in any war or any branch of the service, he added.

Persons who qualify are asked to notify Colonel Connolly at his home, DA 2-4554, Menlo Park, or by going to the armory at San Mateo.

DISPERSING INDUSTRY

Should war come would an enemy be able to reach our vital industrial centers with atom bomb attacks? Should we cease the expansion of existing industrial centers in order to avoid, as some people contend, making them more likely targets for atomic attack? These questions have been under discussion for the past several years. Although there has been some purposeful dispersion of defense industries, such as the establishment of certain plane factories in the middle west, it would seem that the problem of industrial dispersion has come about as a natural result of our economic growth.

Most significant in this trend has been the vast industrial growth of the Pacific Coast and of the Southwest. Although this growth received its greatest impetus in recent years the trend toward industrial dispersion here in California was stimulated many years ago through the development of our statewide banking system which made the financial resources of the metropolitan centers available for the development of outlying areas.

Today the great number of large industries in these areas would contribute much to their safety in case of war. It is not to be assumed, however, that those cities where many industries are centered are necessarily in serious danger of an atomic attack. We are not yet involved in an all out war and it has yet to be demonstrated that enemy planes could reach these vital centers with atomic or any other type of bombs.

TRUMAN-ATLEE CONFERENCE

The statement issued at the conclusion of the Truman-Atlee Conference in Washington last week indicates that the two leaders reached substantial agreement on most vital points. The expressed determination to avoid appeasement is most heartening but many observers point out that much will depend on just how the word appeasement is interpreted.

Some people say that the British are already appeasing the Chinese Reds by supporting their demand for membership in the U. N. Certainly it is nothing short of appeasement—and worse—for the British to send substantial quantities of war materials to Red China (something of which we have not been entirely guiltless, either) while our troops and theirs battle for survival in Korea against the Red hordes.

It is to be hoped that the promised speed-up of European defense as mentioned in the joint statement will take concrete form. Thus far our allies in Western Europe have done little but talk about defense measures. Maybe the new crisis in the Far East and the fear of a Soviet sweep across Europe will shake them out of their lethargy.

No doubt the Truman-Atlee conference did much to iron out some of the rough spots in Anglo-American relations. Direct conversations are of course much more effective as a means of reaching an understanding than are the formal exchange of messages or contracts made through representatives. It would seem therefore that more frequent get-togethers by the heads of these two governments would definitely work to the advantage of the democratic world.

HAS IT COME TO THIS?

With the manpower shortage becoming so acute hunters may soon be urged not to shoot—other hunters.

THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER

What crimes are committed in the name of diplomacy! The fancy dinner given for Chinese war lord General Wu by U. N. Secretary Trygve Lie is a case in point.

General Wu as the head of the delegation from Red China represents a bloodthirsty regime which has murdered thousands of American boys and other U.N. troops. Yet General Wu (who came here to accuse US of aggression) was wined and dined in a royal manner. And who picked up the check? The American taxpayer who provides 75 per cent of the U.N. funds.

As one writer observed, the whole thing makes about as much sense as if we had thrown a party for Japan's Premier Tojo immediately after Pearl Harbor. It is one thing to act civilly toward even a murderous war lord but it is quite another to fete him as if he were a long lost friend. Does anyone think that General Wu or his masters gained more respect for the United Nations through this gesture? Does anyone think that the Chinese Reds will act any less savagely because of it?

SHOPPING TIME IS SHORT

Hear ye! Hear ye! All procrastinators and "putter offers." Christmas approacheth, yea swiftly.

If the good woman of the house hath not made her Christmas purchases she had better getteth off the dime. The same goeth for the good man of the house also.

Thy friendly merchants can offer thee a much better selection of wares if thou haste to their shoppes at once. By so doing, thou wilt also save thy toes from being tread upon and thy ribs from being punched by the uncouth mobs which descendeth upon the stores in a trampling tide on the final shopping days.

So, if thou wishest to avoid that "run down" feeling we implore thee to proceed with dispatch on thy shopping.

In brief: Get the lead out!

Significant Statements by Interesting Californians

Christmas Carols

Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of the Carol" will be the featured musical selection on Holiday Music from Westlake over KJBS from 10:15 to 10:45 p.m. Sunday.

This is a collection of popular and ancient Christmas carols arranged for voice and orchestra by one of England's leading modern composers.

Other works on Sunday's program will include excerpts from the ever popular "Messiah" by Handel. Tyrol Christmas carols and selections from the "Nutcracker Suite."

The Man At The Keyhole

By OPERATIVE WB

While agents of the U. S. Senate Committee investigating crime searched around for California's Elmer "Bones" Remmer to see what the portly gentleman knew about gambling, our operative reports he was safely ensconced in Acapulco, Mexico—evidently enjoying life to the fullest.

The able Sam Collins, Assemblyman from Orange County, is all but a cinch for re-election to a ninth term as Speaker of the Assembly, according to Sacramento reports.

Seasoned observers predict the Legislature will give short shift to the two initiative petitions coming before it—the new McLain Pension Scheme and the measure to abolish cross-filing—referring them on to the 1952 ballot. At that time, the experts estimate the anti-cross filing initiative is the more likely to gain voter approval.

PLEASE... MR. WEATHERMAN!

Storms, storms, storms . . . and more storms. Please, Mr. Weatherman, have a heart!

Don't get us wrong. No one is denying the need for rain—rain to build up the seriously depleted underground water table, rain to provide power to light our homes and run our factories, and snow to do the job once the rain is gone. But jeepers, Mr. Weatherman, you're overdoing a good thing. You're bringing so much rain the ground can't hold it and it's literally flooding us out of house and home.

Please accept our thanks though, for never, never doing to California what you always do to the East and Mid-West. We're not complaining. It's just that you've always been so good to us that we'd like our weather in useable doses. Please, Mr. Weatherman?

Hospitalized Vets Can Use Xmas Gifts

Veterans Administration today listed some "dos" and don'ts" for persons planning to give gifts to patients in VA Hospitals.

The following types of gifts belong in the "do" category, as they seem to be quite popular with veteran-patients:

1. Cigarettes and cigars.
2. Books of canteen tickets, good for purchases in VA hospital canteens.
3. Toilet articles such as shaving lotion, combs, hairdressing, soap and the like.
4. Stationery, pens, pencils, greeting cards and other similar items.
5. Handkerchiefs and socks.
6. New phonograph records—after a patient's musical tastes have been learned.

Gifts in the following categories are not required, and should not be sent to patients:

1. Used books, magazines, playing cards, puzzles and games. Items such as these are secured new and in sufficient quantity by the hospitals.
2. Candy and cookies to individual patients who, in many cases, are on special diets.

Bulk gifts of candy and cookies, however, may be sent to a hospital, where they will be distributed to those who can eat them.

As another "don't," VA asked that names of veteran-patients not be requested for the purpose of sending gifts or correspondence. The agency is not permitted to furnish such names to the public.

High School Students May Get US Scholarships

More than 500 scholarships are available to high school students who plan to enter one of the University of California's campuses in 1951, it was announced today by the University's Committee on Undergraduate Scholarships.

These scholarships offer vary stipends and are divided into four general classes.

The first and largest group are general awards open to students who plan to enter the Berkeley, Davis, or Los Angeles campuses of the University. Stipends range from $150 to $300 per year. Persons applying for this group must have a "B" average or better in all previous scolastic work. Consideration is given to scholastic attainment, financial need, character and promise.

A second group provides a few restricted scholarships to students coming from certain areas, pursuing certain studies, or meeting other specifications of the donor. These are open to students planning to enter the Berkeley, Davis, Los Angeles, or Santa Barbara campuses.

A third group of scholarships is open to entering students on any campus of the University and is provided by the California Alumni Association in co-operation with the University. Awards carry stipends of from $150 to $400 per year.

The last group provides a limited number of Honorary Scholarships, carrying no stipends, open to entering freshmen who have attained a high scholastic standing, but who have sufficient financial resources. To qualify a student must have between an "A" and a "B" grade-point average in all of his high school work. The Honorary Scholarship is open to qualified students who plan to enter any campus of the University.

Application forms for any of the four groups of scholarships may be obtained by writing to the Committee on Undergraduate Scholarships on either the Berkeley or Los Angeles campuses. Students wishing to enter at Berkeley or Davis or to obtain a California Alumni Scholarship on any campus of the University should write to the Committee at Berkeley. Those entering the Los Angeles campus or wishing to obtain a U.C.L.A. Alumni Scholarship on any campus of the University should write to the Committee at Los Angeles. March 1, 1951, is the final date for filing applications.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Are You a Cheat?

Fascinating divorced woman . .

MANY YEARS AGO, when I used to play mahjongg frequently with a group of about a dozen friends, we became aware that one of our number was cheating. It was a sickening moment when this particular woman went on confirming our suspicions without the slightest idea that anyone was checking her.

It is easy to cheat at mahjongg. Apart from the fact that the tiles get certain little identifying nicks and scratches, no one is too observant as the hands go down. Everyone is set on her own score and the apparent winner may display 15 tiles or 13, instead of the requisite 14; she may count doubles wrong, make hasty and incorrect calculations, and even slip and extra dragon or honor into the hand quite unobserved. In mahjongg you play a lone hand and everyone is absorbed in her own.

A Cheater Is Caught

This woman, call her Zenobia, was detected in all these means of cheating; when she discarded she would pick up an already-discarded tile to help her hand, or she would draw two and keep the one she did not want in her lap. It was one of the most shocking experiences of my life to be asked to watch her and to see these things with my own eyes. We all had been exasperated at her complacent little air as she won and won and won, but this was too much! Eventually we disbanded the group, organized again without Zenobia, and made no explanation of a course we knew she understood.

But the strange thing is this. Women who would regard Zenobia with horror might, many of them, be cheaters, too, and in a much more serious way. They might be marriage cheaters, going back on their wedding-day promises with never a scruple, year in and year out, and feeling themselves entirely blameless.

By marriage cheaters I don't mean merely in a sexual sense. I mean in the hundred and one ways that a wife can rob a marriage of everything she promised to put into it, and yet be accepted as a charming and honorable woman.

Some Other Cheaters

Lily, for example. She married Bud, a quiet, unexciting, plodding sort of man, 10 years ago. They have one daughter, Jo-Ellie, and a nice home with all conveniences, car, club, the usual American suburban picture. But in Lily's life there is Marilyn Booth, a fascinating divorced woman of 40, who has plenty of money and no occupation at all. Marilyn entertains "the girls" at lunch nearly every day; they play poker or canasta afterward until about 5. Unattached young men, artistic, musical, cultured, drift in late in the afternoon for a cocktail, and Lily rushes into her home flushed and weary at 6 o'clock, dashes food on the table, Ellie, and lives all evening in a happy dream of memory. With Jo-Ellie she is a little snappy over homework and school clothes. With Bud she is cool and noncommital; he doesn't belong in the life she has found for herself and he knows it. That's cheating.

Another serene, complacent cheat is Augusta, wife of George Wilson. Augusta had a daughter, Betsey, some 30 years ago. She told me herself that her first remark to the baby was, "I don't like girls. You should have been a boy!"

A year later she had a boy, and her idolatry of this beautiful child robbed husband and daughter of any companionship with Augusta, for from that time she lost interest in them completely. The girl became a nervous, anxious little creature, living a lonely life of her own. At 12, on the advice of a psychiatrist, she was sent away to school, spending all holidays with an aunt. Augusta talked "Lionel, my son, my boy," until everyone within hearing disliked the child.

When he went away to war in 1943, Augusta almost went melancholy mad, a process she completed when young Lionel fell at Coral sea.

George is in Arabia, whence come rumors that he is not entirely uncomforted. Betsey and her husband and twin sons live with Augusta, and listen by the hour to stories of "my son." Augusta for the 32 years of her marriage has been a cheat.

No, we wives don't have to palm mahjongg tiles to be cheats. It is a lucky marriage indeed—or rather a strong and wise one—that has not a cheat on one side or the other. Sometime a marriage has both. The wife keeps a slovenly, untidy house and a slipshod table.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Vishinsky Names Only Conditions On Which Russia Will Make Peace; Weather Hampers Allies in Korea

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Asia is the danger spot of the world today, most observers believe. The above map shows point of Communist aggression and countries being aided by the United States. China Reds now dominate. Tibet, and observers theorized Nepal may be next.

UNITED NATIONS:

Formula for Peace

Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky in a slashing, abusing speech in the United Nations general assembly outlined a series of conditions which he said must be accepted before there could be world peace. He made it plain that there was no other possible ground for the settlement of east-west differences.

The main condition of Vishinsky's speech was the demand that the Chinese Communists be allowed a seat in the United Nations. Russia has long battled for admission of China in the U.N., but the tone of Vishinsky's speech was much stronger than it had been on other occasions.

The main points of Vishinsky's demands:

1. A pledge not to try to get around the veto.
2. Unconditional prohibition of the atomic-bomb.
3. Armed forces under exclusive control of the security council.
4. Aid to backward countries under international control.
5. Development of international trade without discrimination.

These were the demands reportedly given to Secretary-General Trygve Lie when he visited Prime Minister Stalin during his trip to Moscow in May. Lie's refusal to accept them is believed the reason the Russians opposed his re-election as secretary-general.

Many observers saw a threat in a part of Vishinsky's speech. He said if these demands were ignored it would be idle to think of peace being achieved through the U. N.

NPA Chief

William H. Harrison, standing, national production administrator, ordered a 35 per cent reduction in civilian aluminum supplies and warned that the action will result in some unemployment and higher prices for aluminum products next year. The order is effective January 1, 1951.

DEFENSE:

Nerve Center Moved

The air force announced that headquarters for the nation's defense against air attack will be moved from New York to Colorado Springs, Colo. The move takes the nerve center of air defense of the U. S. 1,650 miles from the Atlantic ocean, deep into the interior for safety reasons.

The move emphasized the fact that the oceans surrounding the country are no longer a barrier against attack. The swing to the west also lent emphasis to the strategic concept that if present tension with Russia should erupt into World War III, the gravest danger of aerial blows against the United States would focus on the northwest "gateway."

Observers pointed out that guided missiles, conceivably with atomic warheads, could be fired from submarines lying a few miles off the present headquarters at Mitchell Field, N. Y., thus destroying the defense center with one blow.

The center now controls both the east and west air-defense forces. Some 800 military and civilian personnel will be assigned to the new center. Lt. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead will be in command.

EUROPE:

Prewar Production

Western Europe, with American aid, increased exports and industrial output above prewar levels, the economic co-operation administration announced.

The report was an encouraging trend in the west's battle against communism. The gains must be increased, however, to support the load of arming for defense against communism.

The E.C.A. said: "The urgency to rearm has emphasized the importance . . . for western Europe of continuing its progress toward the economic goals of the recovery program. The required expansion in military production cannot be achieved unless Europe's economic base is further strengthened."

Xmas Eve Celebration Planned At Union Square

Florence Quartararo, Metropolitan Opera star, and and native San Franciscan, will be the guest soloist of the Downtown Association's annual Christmas musical program in Union Square again this year.

The traditional even, originated by Tetrazzini in 1910 and revived by the Downtown Association in 1946, will be held on Saturday evening, Dec. 23. The entire program will be broadcast over stations of the NBC network from 5 to 5:30 p.m.

WHOLESALE PRICES

Wholesale Index at All-Time High

The bureau of labor statistics reported wholesale prices hit an all-time high during the second week of November. The new index was an advance of .6 of a per cent in one week and was 8.7 per cent above the June 20 level, before the Korean fighting.

All commodities other than farm products and foods again advanced to another peak, 9.3 per cent above pre-Korean war levels. Hogs and steers continued to move in opposite directions. Hogs dropped while steers advanced to the highest point in 1950.

Steel-scrap prices which had not changed for two months advanced 50 cents a ton. Rubber prices, reacting to the war news, also advanced. Tin prices also fluctuated violently.

TRUMAN:

Champions Fair Deal

President Truman held a press conference and declared—in the face of G.O.P. claims that the November election had killed his fair deal—that he would continue to press for adoption of his whole program as long as he was president.

If the Republican party thought their victory had taken any of the starch out of the President they were disappointed. He said he would present his full program to the 82nd congress when it convened in January.

To the surprise of everyone present at the press conference he did not seem disturbed by Republican gains in congress. He brushed off his reverses as normal in a non-presidential year. He added that practically all the Republican victories could be traced to local situations. Most observers were inclined to agree with him in that respect.

Then the President got down to some definite statement:

Secretary of State Dean Acheson is going to keep his job— period.

General Douglas MacArthur reports that American troops in Korea have plenty of clothing.

Surveys are still going on to determine whether price and wage controls are necessary. They'll be imposed as soon as there is need for them, but he doesn't think the time has come.

He could be convinced this country should send an ambassador to Franco Spain, but he hasn't been convinced so far.

He doesn't agree with Taft's recent statement that higher taxes could lead to inflation.

There will be further conservations on the proposed Japanese peace treaty within a few weeks.

PROFITS LEVY

Battle Shapes Up

From all indications a severe battle is shaping up over President Truman's proposed $4 billion excess profits tax. The tax bill in all probability will be presented to the "lame duck" session of congress but the Prsident has no assurance that it will get approval, especially in the senate.

If the proposal fails in the "lame duck" session and is presented in the 82nd congress, observers believe Republican strength will show itself for the first time and a great many changes will be written into the bill.

As of the moment, the U. S. chamber of commerce branded the tax "un-American" and urged congress to cut Federal nondefense spending by at least $6 billion instead of approving the levy.

A Republican substitute for the bill was vetoed in the house ways and means committee. Democrats on the committee criticized the GOP proposal as one that would hit small business and favor corporations with income swollen by the defense program.

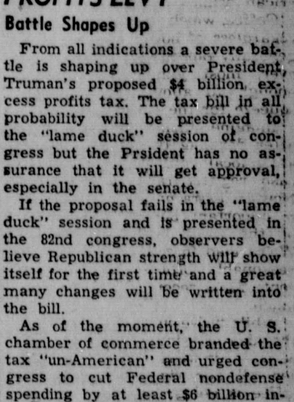
The President's plan calls for a tax of 75 per cent on excess profits of corporations, with the four-year period 1946-49 used as a yardstick to determine what profits are abnormal.

A barrage of other protests against the levy was received by the house ways and means committee.

All this would indicate that no action will be taken on the bill this year although it will be ready for consideration. What the new congress will do about the proposed tax is anybody's guess.

The battle will be bitter and may have a great influence on the 1952 presidential election.

Atomic Dogtag



Corp. Doris J. Apgar is shown with the army's new self-developing photographic dosimeter, a device which measures the extent of exposure of individuals to atomic radiation. The "atomic dogtag" is simple, inexpensive to produce and is worn about the neck. Readings can be obtained in about one minute after exposure to radioactive rays.

MINUTE MEN:

Ready for Action

A revolutionary defense plan was announced by defense department officials.

The plan called for millions of civilian "minute men," ready for immediate action, while the regular armed forces are building toward their projected three-million-man strength.

Military men reportedly believe that a three-million-man force will not meet defense needs.

Dragon Composes Rose Bowl Music

Pasadena's 1951 Rose Parade will have its own theme music composed by Carmen Dragon, noted Hollywood conductor and composer.

L. Clifford Kenworthy, Tournament of Roses president, announced today that Dragon is composing a "Tournament of Roses March" which will be the musical feature of the 1951 event.

The March, the first ever composed to celebrate the world-famous floral spectacle, will be played during the parade, Kenworthy said, and at a number of pre-parade events.

Dragon, who is one of Hollywood's busiest music directors, with 25 motion pictures and a number of leading network programs to his credit, was born in Antioch, and attended San Jose State College. He made his musical debut in San Francisco in 1936 and came to Hollywood in 1937.

In recent years he has become increasingly active in concert work. Two of his symphonies have been played on the "Standard Hour" and he was the conductor of the successful Gershwin Memorial Concert last summer in Hollywood Bowl. He shared an Academy award with Columbia's Morris Stoloff in 1944 for his work in "Cover Girl."

Dragon is now music director of the "Railroad Hour" and other programs and orchestra conductor for the "Standard School Broadcast." He has shown his interest in music for the community in general, and for 'teen agers in particular, in an increasing number of guest appearances with civic and college symphony orchestras, as well as in a considerable volume of written material on the subjects.

SOCIETY

DON'T LET DEATH TAKE YOUR HOLIDAY

Once again American armed forces are in action trying to protect and uphold the ideal of freedom. Once again the spirit of Christmas will be mocked by the hate and bloodshed of the battlefield.

In many American homes the roar of the cannon will make it hard to hear the ringing of the Christmas bells. That is to be deeply regretted, but throughout history the torch of man's dignity and freedom has been held aloft only through the sacrifice of it bearers.

We can do little to prevent such personal tragedies. But we can do a lot to prevent another kind of tragedy which is equally poignant at the Christmas season—and more cruel because it is needless.

We refer to the preventable tragedy of accidents. The National Safety Council has called for intensive accident prevention effort during the holidays—usually a very dangerous period of the year.

That is an objective which has our wholehearted support, not only because it is better to have a joyous Yuletide, but also because we cannot afford to waste the resources of manpower and material so necessary these days to our national strength.

The waste is enormous—much more than persons realize. The American Medical Association has shown that accidents rob the nation of more working years than any disease, because accidents strike all age groups, not just those whose productive years are largely behind them.

The traffic accident problem this year is serious, with a death toll of 35,000 in prospect. That would be the largest number of automobile victims since the record year of 1941.

Rigid enforcement of the laws by state, county and municipal police, plus individual determination to play it safe, can keep the Christmas spirit—and all of us—alive this year.

Speaker Presents Glimpses Of Europe To Seventeenth District CCPT Members

A holiday talk by Miss Clara B. Dills of Redwood City, San Mateo county librarian and district home reading chairman provided the surprise program feature for Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers in Brisbane on Thursday, December 11.

Miss Dills gave glimpses of Europe as she saw them on her trip last summer.

"Everywhere more than one language is used by the people," stressed Miss Dills in telling of Italy, Switzerland, France, Denmark, and Engannd, and she noted the literary background of each country. Details of scenery, modes of travel, and food she compared while mentioning war ravages and resultant shortages. Two Christmas poems, one a 12th century carol, were read by Miss Dills in closing.

Xmas Songs

Mrs. G. J. Sircx of San Carlos presided, and Miss Natalie Lipman, superintendent of Brisbane and Bayshore schools, welcomed district and local PTA representatives. Mrs. R. H. Pons of San Mateo, music chairman, presented the Brisbane student glee club, directed by Mrs. Patricia Konigsberg, and accompanied by a student, Diane Kurtz. Five Christmas songs, one in original Latin, showed excellent training in prasing and diction.

Membership total to December announced by Mrs. Richard A. Andresen of San Mateo is 15,242. To qualify for a special State award, last minute per capita dues must be mailed to Mrs. Edward Styskel of Burlingame, financial secretary, not later than December 18. All units are urged to check with local membership chairmen.

Tennis Match

Information on the first annual San Mateo county elementary school tennis tournament was prepared by Frank Gove, and distributed by Mrs. Gregory Davis, recreation co-chairman of San Mateo. Tournament play is to begin on Wednesday, December 20, and student entries close this week.

Director of health Mrs. Roy N. Cloud Jr. of Redwood City will be district delegate to the mental health conference at Asilomar on January 6 and 7, 1951. Honored guests, including Mrs. George Beanston of San Francisco, State chairman of field service, received Christmas corsages of foil and yarn made by Mrs. J. M. Foley of San Mateo.

Edwin Williman of Pescadero, conservation chairman, presented Ralph H. Shaw of San Carlos, county superintendent of parks, beaches and recreation. An appeal for funds to purchase the Butano virgin redwood area of 1200 acres was given by Mr. Shaw, who asked that legislation to preserve natural forests and parks be suported by the PTA.

Safety Work

Safety chairman Robert Moore of Redwood City told of plans for the annual school safety education demonstrations in May, 1951, and introduced James Black of Los Angeles from the National Automobile club. Mr. Black has survey reports to be used in safety education throughout California, and he will appear in five San Mateo county High schools by February 1951.

Material distributed at roll call concerned publicity record books from Mrs. Frank Garelick of Millbrae, graded book lists by Miss Dills, and dates for unit Blood Bank cookie donations in 1951. Latest new associations reported were College Park in San Mateo, Laureola in San Carlos, and Shelby Lane in Atherton.

Santa Coming To Gen. Pershing School Dec. 15th

The reguiar meeting of the General Pershing PTA was held December 5, 1950. Girl Scout Troop No. 5 led the members in the renewal of the pledge of allegiance.

Reverend John Glasse of the Broadmor Presbyterian Church spoke on "Respecting the Beliefs of All." Following his timely message, the Broadmoor Church Quartet sang a number of Christmas songs, one of them, the very old and beautiful, "Long Years Ago in Bethlehem."

A rhythm band of Miss Henrietta Engel's Kindergarten class presented musical numbers. One of her pupils, Helena Topping, sang her versions of "Chocolate Ice Cream Cone" and "Rudolph, the Red Nose Reindeer." The entire class closed the program by singing "Silent Night" and "Jolly Old St. Nick."

Quick-Frozen Vegetables Make Time-Saving Treats For Christmas

WHILE Christmas Eve is bound to be crowded with last minute duties—gifts to be wrapped, turkey to be stuffed, tree to be decorated—don't let your part of the preparations go till too late. Getting a huge Christmas dinner can easily become an all-day chore unless you do some of the work beforehand and plan to take advantage of short cuts. One of these you should note right now. Serve delicious quick-frozen vegetables.

You'll cut your preparation time down to nothing since all quick-frozen vegetables come to you already cleaned, washed and sorted. It's a simple matter, if you are going to serve French-style green beans, for instance, to take them from their carton and pop them into boiling water No precious time wasted sitting in the kitchen trimming and slicing beans. Their fresh flavor is a Christmas treat, too. Even in December, they taste as if they'd just been picked from a sunny, summer garden.

Quick-frozen vegetables make mighty good trimmings for that all-important turkey Take the traditional side-dish, squash. To score a culinary triumph, try baking it with sections of grapefruit in a casserole. It takes but a few minutes since the squash is already cooked and sieved. And the combination of bland squash and tart grapefruit, mellowed with brown sugar, produces an unusual and highly interesting dish. Serve the squash casserole right alongside your turkey and quick-frozen French-style green beans.

Squash with Grapefruit

1 box (16-oz.) quick-frozen cooked squash, thawed
1/2 teaspoon granulated sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup grapefruit sections, free from membrane
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Mix together squash, sugar, salt, and pepper. Turn into greased shallow baking dish. Arrange grapefruit sections on top and sprinkle with brown sugar. Dot with butter. Place under broiler until nicely browned. Or place in hot oven (400°F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Wealth Of Tradition And History Behind The Yuletide Mincemeat Pie

A wealth of tradition is covered by the crust of the Yuletide mincemeat pie.

Although few people today know it, the pie represents the cradle of the Christ Child surrounded by the gifts of the Magi. It was made originally in oval form, to symbolize the cradle, and the varied ingredients were the gifts.

At one time mince-meat pie was banned, and at still another time in its history, it was the cause of Christmas itself being abolished for a brief period.

For many years in England during the time of Oliver Cromwell, the custom of feasting and drinking at Christmas was regarded as worldly and sensual, and the more strict Puritans refused to eat mince-meat pie during the holiday season. This prejudice was finally overcome after the Restoration.

New Trouble

In the New World, during the first half century after the Pilgrims' arrival at Plymouth, similar troubles caused the banning of mince-meat pies and Christmas. In 1659, and for several years thereafter, there was no Christmas in New Engand as a result of an argument over the shape and meaning of mince-meat pies. Eventually the indignation spent itself, and the ban was lifted.

A pie which no other can approach in the intricacies of its creation, mince-meat pies originally were made almost entirely of meat seasoned with spices. Fruit, chiefly currants, was added, and probably because the dish was regarded as a sweet, the fruit content was gradually increased until mince-meat became a mixture of fruit and spices, with or without the addition of meat.

World Job

The whole world has a part in the making of mince-meat pie, according to the American Bakers Association. There are lemons, citrons, and oranges from Florida an California; apples from a half dozen states; currants from Greece; raisins from the Pacific Coast; sugar and syrups from Louisiana and Cuba; suet from the Middle West; spices from faraway Ceylon: and other ingredients from far and near.

By and large, mince-meat pies have not changed noticeably since those early days when New England cooks began preparations for making the mincemeat weeks in actual pie baking.

Pepys Says

The greatest difference occurs not in the ingredients, but in the preparation. The American housewife now depends on the baker to perform all the labor of preparation. The American Bakers Association says that American bakers use tons of the same high quality ingredients as are used in the home in taking care of the demand for this traditional part of the Christmas dinner.

History, tradition, and its own merits have made mince-meat pie one of the most interesting of all food products—rightfully occupying its place of honor at the Yuletide feast.

As Samuel Pepys stated in his famous diary about his 1662 Christmas diner:

"We had, besides a good chine of beef and other god cheer, eighteen mince-meat pies."

Ice Cream Land Gives Pint To Xmas Tree Buyers

Entering the Christmas spirit, Jim Denny, Head of Ice Cream Land, at 2159 Junipero Serra Blvd., announced he will give a pint of ice cream to every Xmas tree purchased from Amando Ferraris, operating at 2241 on the Boulevard.

Explained Jim, "It seems to me that everyone should have a tree to really appreciate the yuletide. Therefore, I am offering a carton of ice cream free to my customers, providing they get a spruce or pine from Amando, almost next door.

"He has set up shop only for the period between now and the holidays, so we thought it might be a help to him as well as the people in our neighborhood. Also, it is well to point out that his prices are not exhorbitant."

Turning to Victor Goria, Jim's salesman, the latter related that Vic has made all arrangements to leave for Italy shortly, where he will study the language and also work for the Bank of Italy there, which is connected with the Bank of America.

Vic will remain abroad for about a year and upon returning, enter the employment of the Bank of America, according to present plans, he said. His foreign service will be in connection with the G. I. Bill. He leaves on December 24.

Oakland Naval Supply Center Notes Birthday

A birthday party which will be celebrated by work, takes place at the Oakland Naval Supply Center on Friday, December 15th. At that time the huge Pacific Supply base becomes 9 years old.

This year, the 8,000 employees—military and civilian—will pause momentarily to acknowledge the date and then roll up their sleeves and pitch in to get the ever increasing tonnage of supplies, provisions and materials out to the Pacific Ocean area as swiftly and efficiently as possible.

Conceived after World War I and approved in 1939, construction on the permanent supply installation was begun in January, 1940, and the Center was officially commissioned just 8 days after the attack upon Pearl Harbor.

Vital Role

The Oakland activity played a vital role in World War II in supplying, equipping and feeding the vast Pacific Ocean area. It gained a tremendous amount of experience in materials handling, packing, preservation, waterfront operations, and all the techniques, methods and know-how involved in a war of logistics. It boasted a record of meeting every shipping deadline on time, and getting the material where it was needed when it was needed.

When the Korean crisis broke, the Oakland Naval Supply Center, despite a big reduction in force which had cut its personnel down to a "peacetime basis" possessed a tightly knit, highly skilled organization of trained logistics specialists, ready to proceed on an emergency basis at a moment's notice. Over 97 per cent of the Center's personnel are civilian employees.

First Step

The first step taken after the Korean crisis was to increase the basic work week to 6 days, and to work around the clock 7 days a week in Depots, Branches, Departments, Divisions, Sections and Units where the workload meant a 24 hour stint in order to meet rush deadlines. Requisitions started to pour into Oakland from the entire Pacific Ocean area as well as Pacific Ciast installations. From an average of 19,762 line items requisitioned during an average month prior to the Korean incident, the figure jumped to a staggering total of 97,803 line items requisitioned during the month of August, 1950—an increase of 394 per cent.

Toothpicks to Turbines

Everything from toothpicks to turbines was shipped out in a neverending stream of supplies.

It is 5,000 miles from Oakland, California, across the vast stretches of the Pacific Ocean to Pusan, in Korea. It took lots of ships loaded to the gunnels with all sorts of supplies to get those supplies to the forward area in condition to be used immediately.

Latest in the Stanford series on early Western transportation is CAMELS TO CALIFORNIA by Harlan D. Fowler, published today by Stanford University Press.

Around desert campfires from Texas to California one hears of the phantom camels. Sometimes the camel is a great red one with a leather army saddle; sometimes it is ghostly and white, moving across the sands into the distance. It may carry a ghostly rider—perhaps a skeleton lashed to its back. Or it may be young and frisky, a hint that somewhere in the hills a herd breeds and multiplies.

Fanciful Yarn

Fanciful as these American camels may seem, the stories of their shadowy forms drifting through the deserts ring with more than a little truth. Following the war with Mexico, the United States considered the use of camels to solve the difficult problems of transportation in the arid Southwest. A Navy ship was modified for carrying the heavy beasts and a commission was sent abroad to purchase camels at various Levantine ports. By 1857 two shiploads had been landed in Texas, and in the subsequent years both Arabian and Bactrian camels were used extensively for the carrying of supplies and express and the pioneering of new routes between Texas and California.

Camel's Job

But with the advancing times the camel's usefulness came to an end and some were auctioned to circuses. Others carried salt to Nevada mines. Still others were abandoned to feud for themselves on the broad deserts of the Southwest.

In CAMELS TO CALIFORNIA Harlan D. Fowler brings the complete story to publication for the first time. Quoting from historical documents, he traces this experiment in transportation from its inception in the mind of Jefferson Davis, then Secretary of War, through the procuring and transportation of the beasts, and on to the myths that have grown to the statute of folklore. The camel episode thus becomes one of the most fascinating chapters in Western history and a worthy addition to the tables of cable cars, paddle wheels, coastal steamers, wagons, and stagecoaches in other volumes of the Stanford Transportation Series.

No Dough—No Firehouse Christmas Decorations

Lack of funds has forced the curtailment of the usual Christmas decorations for Daly City's four firehouses this year.

The only exception will be Fire House No. 4 at 101 Peoria street. This year they will employ the same decorations as last. There will be a few added touches to the front room scene that won the Company first prize as the best decorated fire house last year.

Car Thieves Clear Over $325

Close to $325 in personal property was stolen in two daring raids on parked automobiles Tuesday night, police reported today.

Heaviest loss was suffered by Max Goldstein, 439 Evergreen, who told officers that the unidentified thieves had taken $300 in property from his locked machine.

Goldstein had parked his car in the driveway of his home at midnight Tuesday. When he went to unlock the machine Wednesday morning he found that someone had forced open the right hand front dor and completely emptied the car.

Police also believe that perhaps the same thieves struck earlier Tuesday evening when they looted a car parked in the garage of Richard Dickson, 538 Crocker. Dickson had left open the garage doors to allow his parents to enter the house.

About 11 p.m. he awoke to hear the doors slam and the muffled roar of a car speeding away from the front of the house. He didn't think anything of the matter until the next morning when he entered his car to find that thieves had gotten away with $5 in trinkets and other property.

WARSHAWSKI TWIN GIVES BIRTH TO GIRL TWINS

Carrying on a family tradition, Mrs. Maxine Pettingell, daughter of Mrs. Henry Warshawski of Warshawski Dry Goods, 6340 Mission, gave birth to twin girls early Monday morning.

The double surprise has happened twice in the Warshawski family as Mrs. Pettingell is a twin herself. Both she and her sister, Mrs. Jane Krahenbuhl, are well known in Daly City.

The new set of twins arrived at 10:15 a.m. at Children's Hospital. Hillerley weighed in at 7 pounds 3 ounces, while her sister, Radine, came in exactly one pound less at 6 pounds 3 ounces.

While Mrs. Warshawski is already a grandmother . . . there is a 17 months old boy at the Pettingell home and little girl at the Krahenbuhl residence . . . this is the first time that twins have arrived on the scene.

WATCH THAT CURB... IT CAN HURT YOU —

Even a curb can be treacherous. Take the case of Carl Peterson, 301 Citrus, for an example.

Peterson was walking across Mission street Wednesday afternoon, whistling to himself in spite of the rain. Everything was well with the world.

A few minutes later he was being treated at Junipero Serra hospital for a fractured knee cap.

Seems when he had stepped up to the curb at Vista Grande he hadn't stepped high enough. His whistle turned to a low moan when he slipped and fractured his knee.

CLEAN, LUBRICATE, CLEAN

Over-lubrication is decidedly harmful in one way, and it is a way that does not occur to the average motorist, points out the National Automobile Club. Oil and grease attract and retain dirt and dust. Therefore, any excess of lubricant left around a bushing or bearing is likely to permit a collection of dirt to gather, work its way into the moving parts and cause a greater rate of wear. Wipe off any excess grease or oil.

Here's A Handy Guide As To What Not To Buy And What To Buy For Children

Be especially careful when you buy toys for children for Christmas presents, warns the San Francisco Chapter, National Safety Council.

The following precautions to curb the high annual "unsafe" toy casualty list were offered to adults by the safety organization:

UP TO TWO YEARS OF AGE: Buy toys that cannot be swallowed. Avoid painted toys; those with sharp edges or removable parts. Flammable toys are dangerous for any age.

TWO TO THREE YEARS OF AGE: Purchase toys with smooth edges to avoid cutting or scratching. Check to see that paint is non-poisonous. Avoid marbles, beads, coins, and flammable toys.

THREE TO FOUR YEARS OF AGE: Buy solidly made toys that can't break apart or splinter. Sharp or cutting toys, electrical equipment, flammable costumes, and extremely heavy toys are the principal "toy hazards" for this age group.

FOUR TO SIX YEARS: Avoid shooting or target toys that might endanger the eyes of children. Check to see that tricycles, wagons and other mobile toys are well balanced and solidly constructed. Other top hazards for this age group are poisonous painting sets, cutting and pinching objects.

SIX TO EIGHT YEARS OF AGE: Purchase only approved electrical toys. Avoid toys too large or too complicated for the strength and ability of children in this age group. Principal hazards among toys: sharp edged tools; poorly constructed skates; conductible kites and shooting toys.

EIGHT YEARS AND OLDER: Air rifles, dart games, bows and arrows, sharp tools, electrical equipment, and chemistry sets are dangerous UNLESS used under direct parental supervision.

Iver C. Larson, Chapter manager, stated: "The capabilities of a particular child should be considered before a toy is purchased. A person should discuss an intended purchase of a toy with the parents of the child to be certain that it is considered 'safe' for the child."

Kachina dolls are part of the religion of the Hopi Indians.

NEWS FROM THE SCHOOLS

CROCKER

The Eighth Grade of Room 5 A. M. enjoyed the film depicting the trial of Peter Zenger. He was found guilty of printing the truth. From the time of his trial until today, we have enjoyed the freedom of the press. We owe this to him and to courageous Andrew Hamilton who came to his defense.

Seventh Grade

The Seventh Grade has completed its decorations for the Christmas season both for the hall tions consist of a large picture of Santa Claus framed by various Christmas scenes drawn by the children. Inside the classroom the walls are covered with winter and Yuletide drawings with apropriate colored cutouts spaced between. Plans are also being made for a Christmas party the last day of school.

Sixth Grade

The Sixth Grade recently enjoyed two films on South American countries. One was on the life and products of Argentina. This stressed the importance of the pampus and its products and showed that Argentina is a great modern country as civilized as any in the world today. The second film was on Brazil with special emphasis on the coffee industry.

Fifth Grade

This class has completed its Christmas decorations which consist of snowmen standing on a wintry border. Each pupil made his own snowman so there are no two alike.

In our social studies unit on Colonial Life we have just completed our study of the church and its importance in the lives of early Americans.

CHILLY BURGLAR ROBS HILLSIDE PAINT STORE

A burglar who appeared to be more interested in getting out of the rain than stealing, broke into the Hillside Paint and Color Store, 2 Hillside boulevard, last Thursday.

The unidentified theif pried open a window in the rear of the store. After looking around he took $5 from the cash drawer and made his way back out the window.

However, police believe the burglar spent several minutes in the store warming up before leaving again for the cold and fog.

Women Give Dolls To SF Orphanage

Coverting bean bags into dolls was the principal job over the past thre months for members of the Busy Bees club, a local organization dedicated to assisting those in need.

The nine women members fashioned the bags into colorful little dolls that may be either used to throw around as bean bags or hugged by little girls as dolls. The 100 dolls are going to be presented to the Mt. St. Joseph Orphanage for Christmas presents.

Young DC Girl Cuts Hand While Wishing Dishes

Washing dinner dishes can be hazardous, at least when one of the dishes is broken.

Carol Landgre, 12, 283 Irvington, was cleaning up the dinner dishes last Sunday evening when she sudenly cut her right hand on a piece of broken glass in the dish pan.

Pulling her hand out of the pan, Carol found it was badly cut. Police were called and they rushed her to Junipero Serra hospital where several stitches were taken in her hand.

ST. IGNATIUS EDGES JEFF TWENTIES IN COW PALACE ATTRACTION, 42-39

Donnie Delbon Tanks 19 Points For Coach Mike Orlich's Team

A big-time Cow Palace audience watched St. Ignatius of San Francisco best Jefferson of Daly City, 42-39, Wednesday night, in a battle between the two 120 pound quintet for the mythical West Bay championship.

The game, a special preliminary arranged by Director Frank Walsh, matched the two top lightweight teams from the Academic Athletic Association and Peninsula Athletic League.

Quarter Scores

Jefferson trailed at the quarter marks, but there never was too much margin between the two clubs.

At the end of the first quarter, St. Ignatius led, 10-9. Halftime found the winners ahead, 24-16.

Center Donie Delbon and Bud Silva rallied the losers to a 32-29 stand as the third quarter ended, but the San Francisco cagers held their lead to the finish.

Delbon took individual honors with 19 points, while Ernie Simson tallied 16 for the Wildcats.

Coach Mike Orlich said his Jefferson boys, who finished an outstanding season with 11 wins and 4 losses, were rusty after a layoff of three weeks.

"If we had been on our game," Orlich stated, "we would have taken the game. As it was, we missed several setups and our plays weren't working. If our regular season hadn't ended three weeks ago, we would have been much sharper."

Commerce Fives Triumph Over Jeff Quintets

Jefferson's Indians fell apart in the last three minutes to drop a 47-42 decision to a tall Commerce varsity five, Wednesday on the Jefferson court.

Minus the services of two regulars, Dick Firth and Frank Hartje, who were excused for Christmas work, the Indians" altered lineup almost had the ball game before the San Francisco quintet rallied to victory.

Jefferson led at halftime, 24-20, and at the offset of the last quarter, 35-34.

Center Jack Burgerstrasser paced the Indians with 10 points. Owen Charles, switched from forward to guard, tanked 9. Fowards Dave Cafferata and Al Johnson contributed 5 and 6 points, respectively.

Commerce, led by a six-seven center, is rated a treat in the city leagues, so Coach Mike Orlich was pleased with the near-winning effort of his improved club.

Coach Joe McGrath's Indian 30's succumbed to the speedy Commerce 30's, 41-34, in the preliminary to the varsity business.

Forward Larry Blanchard's 16 points weren't enough to hold down the visitors. The fouling out of regulars, Angelo Caloiaro, Dick Moquin, and Don Wilson, didn't help, either.

Commerce led at the half, 30-20.

Guard Norm Cady trailed the frisky Blanchard with 5 points.

Jefferson's varsity and lightweight quintets will meet Mission of San Francisco next, after Christmas, December 27, at Jefferson.

Their Pensula Athletic League campaign starts on January 12 against title-favorite Sequoia in Redwood City.

Faulk Will Play In San Jose Charity Bowl

San Jose will have its own Bowl Game this Saturday, December 16, when the San Jose Packers face the Seattle Ramblers at Spartan Stadium in a Salvation Army Charity Bowl feature.

Both elevens had impressive semipros records for the concluded season and are ranked at the top of the amateur grid list for the Pacific Coast.

The Packer lineup is studded with former San Jose State and Santa Clara players while the northerners are loaded with athletes from Washington, Washington State and Montana.

Jack Faulk, former Jefferson high school tackle and more recently co-captain of San Jose State, will start for the Packers.

Proceeds will be used for the annual Christmas activities of the Salvation Army.

Serra Varsity and Thirties Whip Jeff Quintets

Serra's defense was too tight and Dick Simoni's aim too accurate as the unbeaten Padres rapped Jefferson, 46-25, last Thursday on the losers' court.

Simoni scored 19 points and his tall mates checked the Indian varsity to five field goals and controlled both backboards.

Jefferson had trouble keeping the ball and their two-pointers were from far out. Coach Mike Orlich's crew, showing need of practice, trailed from the start.

Serra, with Simoni getting hot and big Jack Allain snatching the rebounds, led after the first quarter, 15-6. Simoni was hitting but good thereafter and the Padres sped to a 31-15 half-time lead.

At the third quarter mark, the margin was 38-19, with Padre subs piling more to the outcome

Les Nicolini and Frank Hartje, hustling Indian guards, combined to rally their mates at times, but not enough.

Nicolini and Hartje shared individual honors with six points each. Hartje's two field goals were arced from 35 feet.

The Indians got 15 points on the foul line in 28 trips. Serra, although they didn't need them, scored eight free throws in 17 tries.

Victory was Serra's third straight of the young season. Jefferson lost to Lincoln of San Francisco in their other outing last week. The Indians just started practice two weeks ago, so the losses don't mean much.

In the lightweight game, Serras 30s toppled the Jefferson 30s, 31-21. Coach Joe McGrath's quintet connected for only two field goals.

Both squads had trouble hitting the hoop for a spell with a 4-3 first quarter score, the Padres in front. Serra was on top at half, 16-9.

Larry Blanchard and Don Wilson narrowed the gap to 20-27 as the third quarter ended. The Indians got one more point and that was all.

Bob Stephens paced the winners with 15 points, while Blanchard and Wilson each got six.

Lehigh Sends Doyne To East-West Game

Dick Doyne, Larchmont, N.Y., star halfback on Lehigh University's first undefeated and untied footbal squad in 67 years of competition, will be the first player from the "ivy-clad engineering university" to play in the East-West contest December 30 in San Francisco, California.

The East's leading ground gainer during the past season, Doyne romped to 994 yards on 156 carries in nine games. This was 29 yards short of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association mark of 1,023 yards set by Lehigh's Dick Gabriel in 1949.

The versatile Doyne, who does about everything but carry the water bucket, also was the leading punter in the E.I.F.A. during the past campaign. He ended his varsity career with 41.5 yards punting average. His longest punt of the 1950 campaign, a quick kick which traveled 81 yards against Rutgers, may be the top punting mark of the nation when all statistics are released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau directed by Homer Cooke.

In three years of varsity competition, Doyne crossed enemy goal lines 21 times for 126 points. He gained 1901 yards on 328 rushing attempts for an average of 5.7 yards per carry. The Larchmont, N.Y., triple-threat right halfback, ran back 18 punts for 246 yards or an average of 13.6 yards per jaunt. His three-year punting average is 41.1 yards, having quick kicked the majority of his 49 punts for 2016 yards. He caught 15 forward passes for 313 yards.

Sequoia Is Rated Cinch For P.A.L. Cage Title

Coach Ray Dimick of Sequoia is liable to get tarred and feathered if his Cherokees don't win their third straight Peninsula Athletic League basketball crown this season.

Dimick has four regulars back from last year's co-title sharers. And everybody, except the Sequoia mentor, thinks that's cause enough for his team to take everything.

Dimick fears Palo Alto which finished fourth last time.

Viking Coach George Hurley has a good nucleus with the return of first-stringers, Merle Flattley and Bob Pederson.

These boys played no small part in Palo Alto's grid championship drive.

Youngsters Hoop In Junior League

By ERLE JOHNSON

Crocker AM of "A" League and Jefferson of "B" League are pacing the pack of grammar school youngsters in the Junior Basketball League.

The boys have been at it for two weeks now and should have developed their "eyes" for the January league.

In action last week, a fast-moving Crocker AM five stopped Jefferson, 29-19, in an "A" Battle. Charlie Lewkowitz tanked 14 points for the winners and Al Figone made 13 for the losers.

In another "A" game, OLPH defeated Crocker PM, 26-7, Irish Bob Murphy meshed 10 points, while Dick Hutchinson was high for PM with four points.

Jefferson's "B" quintets swept a pair of tilts last Thursday. Joe Ordonez led a 12-8 win over Crocker PM with eight points. Fermo Rancatore collared 14 points for the other Jefferson team as it shattered OLPH, 38-5. Bob Bachelogo scored all five points in a lost cause.

All Junior League games are played at the Jefferson Union High School Gymnasium under the dual sponsorship of the Daly Recreation Department and the Jefferson Elementary School District.

The "A" games start at 7 p.m. each Thursday night, with the "B" tilts following at 8.

The public is invited to see the future Luisettis perform.

Cow Palace Presents Top Cage Attractions

The walking Bow Tie opened the 1950-51 basketball season this week at the spacious Cow Palace.

Hulking Frank Walsh, who has more bow ties than a farm has flies, presented two doubleheaders before small but eager cage audiences.

Inaugural action saw St. Mary's dump Santa Clara, 70-55, and California topple Nebraska, Big Seven champ, 62-59.

Tuesday night, Center Kevin Duggan of San Francisco State meshed 34 points but his team lost to Los Angeles State, 85-77. Nebraska squared accounts by whipping Santa Clara, 53-38.

Walsh's next Cow Palace shows are Monday and Tuesday nights, December 18 and 19.

The bill of fare:

Monday night

Colorado U. vs. Stanford.
Baylor U. vs. U.S.F.

Tuesday

Colorado U. vs. Santa Clara.
Baylor U. vs. Stanford.
First games start at 7:45.

STANFORD CAGERS ENTER CAMPAIGN WITH BEST COMBINATION IN YEARS

Everett Dean's Indian Squad Has Title-Makings; First Five Is Tops Although Reserves Are Thin

Stanford embarks on the 1950-1951 basketball season with perhaps their best team in recent years.

Head Coach Everett Dean, in his eleventh year as cage tutor, lost seven men from last season, including big George Yardley, rated one of the Coast's top players.

Four Starters Back

Fortunately for Dean, three of his four returning lettermen were first-stringers twelve months ago.

Two sophomore flashes, now juniors, are expected to hold to key to Stanford's Pacific Coast Conference contention.

They are Center Jim Ramstead and Forward Jim Walsh, both of San Francisco.

Walsh is all-coast timber for sure. The six-three youngster appeared in all 25 Indian games last year and was second in scoring behind the phenomenal Yardley. Jim tanked 246 points, for a game average of 9.8.

Jack and Bruce

Ramstead, six-five, figures to rank with the best pivot-men in the West this time out. As a first-year man, lanky Jim pushed 219 points through the hoop over 25 games. Like Walsh, Ramstead is fast, a good shot, and a good board man.

Two boys who played first-string at the tag end of the last season, Forward Jack O'Sullivan and Bruce Iversen, are full-fledged starters at present.

Both juniors, O'Sullivan, five-ten, and Iversen, six-one, have improved considerably and have shown they can score.

Highly-reputed Ed Tucker, a sophomore with a Junior All-American distinction at Compton College, completes the first five.

The first Negro athlete in Stanford history, Tucker brings a sensational freshman record of 514 points . . . an average of 15 per contest from the southern school.

He stands six-one and is considered an excellent prospect.

Sophomore Prospects

Indian reserves include several members of last year's freshman quintet: Forward Paul Johnson, six-one, Center Dan Wilbur, six-five, and Guards George Zaninovich, six-two, and Fritz Fenster, six-two. All need more experience, but should be heard from if they can break Dean's well-balanced lineup.

Dean's peak year on the Farm was 1942, his fourth there, when his club captured the NCAA championship after winning the Southern Division and Pacific Coast Conference titles. His slate for 1942 read 27 wins and 4 losses.

History Review

Stanford has annexed the PCC crown five times and tied for it in 1921. The Indians grabbed the Pacific Coast conference top spot in 1920, the three Luisetti years, 1936, 1937, and 1938, and again in 1942.

Dean came to Palo Alto in 1939 from Indiana University to succeed John Bunn as basketball coach.

Gone were the three-time champs of the Luisetti era and Everett had a tremendous task before him.

In three years, he had the Indians in the national limelight in taking the NCAA title. The war disrupted Stanford athletics until 1946 and Dean went to work again at rebuilding.

His best squad since then was the 1949 aggregation which posted a final 19-9 mark.

Slate Tough

Stanford goes on an Eastern barnstorming tour next week after two appearances, Monday and Tuesday, at the Cow Palace. The Redshirts meet Colorado University on December 18 and Baylor's Bears the next night in the Geneva avenue pavilion.

Their itinerary then is Michigan at Ann Arbor, December 22, New York University at New York, December 26, Cornell at Ithaca, December 28, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, December 29, and Utah at Salt Lake City, January 2.

The Indians open Southern Division PCC play against UCLA's perennially strong Bruins in a two-night stand at Stanford, January 5 and 6.

AUTOMOBILE PRODUCTION

Automotive factories in the United States turned out a total of 6,758,418 motor vehicles during the first ten months of 1950, according to the National Automobile Club. Of this total, 5,640,047 were passenger cars, 1,114,720 were motor trucks ,and 3,651 were motor coaches.

Same Old Story! Bush Ball Clubs Get Rained Out

How monotonous can it get?

All Sunday bush league games were drowned by another dose of rain last week and the boys are getting all out of shape from not playing as scheduled.

Daly City's sandlotters will be knocking on wood again this Sunday with a prayer of dry fields and clear skies for a change.

It seems like ages since last they played. Before the rains came, that is.

Charlie Faulkner, San Francisco Recreation Department schedule-maker, supplied the following schedule for this Sunday, December 17, come rain or shine:

Class AA:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Gelsi's Cavern (3-3) vs. SFAC (4-2) at Harrison, 2 p.m.

GOLDEN GATE PARK LEAGUE

Sarto A.C. (6-2) vs. Mike Chioino (4-4) at Marchbanks, 12.

Class A:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Sarto A.C. vs. Hillside Market at Big Rec, 10 a.m.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE

Marie's Place vs. Mello Records at Potrero Hill, 12.

Satan A.C.—bye.

P.S. If it pours, the boys will play water polo.

Rod & Gun Club Hold Installation With Sportswomen

The joint installation dinner of the Daly City Rod and Gun Club and the Daly City Sportswomen was a most successful party, in spite of the mumbling in their beards of some of the Rod and Gun members, previous to the affair.

The turn out for the installation was good, approximately 60 people. The press was represented by Joe Deering of the Call Bulletin and Ed Neal of the News.

"Uncle Joe Deering," as he is affectionately called, is one of the guiding lights of the Huck Finn Pool for youngsters at the annual Sports Show. You readers recall that the Huck Finn Pool is sponsored by the Call Bulletin and put on by the Daly City Rod and Gun Club, assisted by the Daly City Sportswomen's club. Plans are already going forward for the coming show, some time in February.

After the diner, came the installation of officers, two by two, until the two presidents of the organizations were installed. After the usual introductions and speeches, which fortunately were short, there was dancing and general sociability. The consensus seemed to be that it was a very pleasant party, and I shouldn't be surprised if it done that way again next year.

San Mateo Bulldogs Whip Marin, 61-57

San Mateo Junior College rallied in the second half to turn back College of Marin, 61-57, last Friday night in a basketball game at San Mateo.

Marin led throughout the first half as the eventual winners had trouble hitting the hoop.

It was 14 minutes into the game before San Mateo connected for a field goal.

San Mateo entered the fray minus the services of Center Jim Ogelvie, who had an infected ankle, whatever that is.

Guard Erv Bonner heroed the victory with 22 points. . . seven field goals and eight free throws.

Julius Robinson stole scoring honors with 25 digits.

San Mateo goes after its third straight triumph tomorrow night, Saturday, in a game with El Camino J. C. of Southern California in San Mateo.

Galileo Raps Serra From Undefeated Class

Bragg's 28 points was the big explosion as Galileo of San Francisco knocked Serra of San Mateo from the unbeaten ranks with a 51-39 win last Monday at Galileo.

Serra, which had beaten St. Ignatius, Hayward, and Jefferson of Daly City, trailed at half, 29-19.

In the lightweight contest, the Galileo 30's downed the Serra 30's, 27-18.

Driver Knocks Over Parking Meter Poles

Eugene Duncan Jr., 35 Werner street, had no comment today whether he was for or against parking meters, but his actions Wednesday bespoke a definite dislike to the boxes.

The Daly City man was driving his car sou thon San Jose when he suddenly lost control of the machine. A moment later he had run down four of the vertical pipes on which the meters are to be installed in front of the Eagles Hall.

The driver wasn't injured, but the bumper of his car took a beating.

OFF THE RECORD

By Roy Hurlbert

FARRELL ROBBED

There is no justice in this cruel, cruel world.

A couple of downtown papers presented All-Northern California high school football teams last week for the concluded 1950 prep season. Four teams in all.

We looked up and down both lists and darned if we could find the name of Jimmy Farrell, fleet junior halfback from Palo Alto's championship eleven.

Not even on the honorable mention team, the last in line.

This isn't just a case of oversight. It's outright sin on the part of the scribes who compiled the all-star squads.

Farrell, the most tackle-missed carrier in the circuit, was the star of the Peninsula Athletic League show this year.

His breakaway speed and clutch-running made the Vikings the class of this section. Farrell's record-shattering teedee output of 115 points attests to his brilliance.

No doubt the other prep backs deserved honors, but they would have to be supermen to surpass Farrell for effectiveness.

Jimmy, if anybody, deserved recognition on the Northern California prep all-star rosters. His scoring feat alone is ample qualification. How many other backs racked up 19 touchdowns this year?

In the eyes of the scribes, Jimmy Unger of Lincoln and Frank Rongey of San Mateo were better than Farrell. Unger and Rongey were named on the honorable mention team. They were entitled to the honor and were duly rewarded.

Farrell, the best in the PAL for years, was neglected in favor of other lesser-knowns. It usually works the other way.

Boys who weren't overlooked by the S.F. scribblers were Paly's Bob Pederson, third team; Pat McCool of Jefferson, honorable mention; Ray Canziani of South City, honorable mention; and Bob McDowell of Paly, honorable mention.

One doesn't have to probe much to discover talent. Young Farrell had it but the scouts had their peepers closed.

Oh well, there's always next year.

Teammate Merle Flattley, Palo Alto's all-purpose end, made the first team for All-Northern California. He got his due.

GROWING PAINS

Two years from now, the Peninsula Athletic League won't be what it used to be. Like the old gray mare.

In recent confabs, coaches and school representatives have spoken of making a few changes. After the first of the new year, plans will be more definite.

At present, there's talk of excluding the three San Jose schools in the future. Supporters of this move say that travel-distance is too far for PAL athletic contests. Also, it's been rumored that Willow Glen, Lincoln and San Jose will comprise a new league in the San Jose neighborhood. They could cut expenses by staying close to home.

Proposals are to the effect that the newly-built Capuchino and Menlo-Atherton high schools be admitted to PAL sports membership. If the three San Jose schools withdraw, the peninsula newcomers will fill the gap.

This would make major-sport circuit of Jefferson, South S. F., Burlingame, San Mateo, Capuchino, Sequoia, Menlo-Atherton and Palo Alto.

Serra, parochial school of San Mateo, may ask to be admitted to the PAL circuit when the league Board of Managers meets on January 8, 1951. If taken in, the Padres would be the first non-public school in the loop. They have completed against peninsula teams in many sports and would be a welcome competitor.

Such a change would make the league more compact and closely knit. Willow Glen, Lincoln and San Jose supply top competition but their distant location and the erection of Capuchino and Menlo Atherton, both closer to other loop teams, makes the suggested change plausible.

The PAL overhaul, if completed, wouldn't take effect for a year, at least, however. It will take some time for the new schools to get ready for a full-scale sports program.

COMPARISON

Final prep polls compiled by Darrell Wilson of the Chronicle and Don Selby of the Examiner listed Merced high school as king of Northern California football for 1950.

These gentlemen delegated second place to Palo Alto, the peninsula powerhouse that could do no wrong. No slight was intended.

The verdict wasn't easy. Merced of the Yosemite league won 11 straight games without a blemish. Palo Alto rolled over 10 opponents going away.

Merced tallied 328 points and yielded 46; Palo Alto scored 366 and gave 76. Pretty even.

They say Merced did a better job. The boys from the Fresno area swept through their regular opposition and proceeded to whip two other league champs, Visalia and Bakersfield.

Palo Alto was the backyard bully. They didn't go elsewhere but they battered everybody on the peninsula. But good.

Before Merced is conceded superior, consider the one lone issue of comparison between the terrific pair:

Merced 19 Burlingame 0. PALO ALTO 52 Burlingame 0.

It's interesting!

SILACCI SAILS ....

Uncle Sam can be mean at times.

Daly City's Joe Sarto holds no feelings against the man with the whiskers, but sometimes events are trying.

Last week, the talkative sponsor of the Sarto A. C. lost the services of Jim Silacci, his first baseman, to the Navy. Silacci expected his greetings soon, so he jumped the gun.

Sarto, his club fighting for the Golden Gate Park League pennant, is in dire straits.

All except one of Manager Vic Baher's team are 1A with their draft boards and the roster is subject to disintegration.

Second baseman Teddy Welp, only 16 years old, is the lone ineligible khaki prospect.

Several of the Sunday league nines, have felt the national emergency. Some of the top sandlot performers have been lost to the service ranks.

COURT GIANT

Towering Jack Allain, Serra basketballer, played center against his former playmates last week when the Padres downed Jefferson.

Allain is one of many cage freaks. Only more so. He scales six-nine, weighs over 200 and is still a high school sophomore.

If he keeps growing, he could give the Empire State building some competition.

Jack isn't overly awkward for a kid of his lank and with the proper training he could become a college mainstay.

Capacity Audiences See "Male Animal"

Packed houses on all three nights greeted the San Mateo Junior College drama department's term play "The Male Animal" last week on the campus.

Students close their books for the holidays after today, December 15, and return to classes January 2. The junior college adult center also will be closed for the Yuletide vacation.

The college's a capella choir, under the direction of Fredric Roehr, is presenting a number of Christmas programs for Peninsula groups. They will entertain at the annual college Christmas assembly

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS UP

Traffic accidents in the rural areas of California during the first ten months of 1950 show an increase when compared with those during the same period of 1949, reports the National Automobile Club.

During the first ten months of 1950 there were 20,892 reportable accidents, 32,695 persons injured and 1,713 persons killed, while during the same period of 1949 there were 19,106 reportable accidents, 30,384 persons injured, and 1,659 persons killed. This represents an increase of 9.3 per cent, 7.6 per cent, and 3.2 per cent respectively.

Weather May Hurt Waterfowl Hunting

Waterfowl hunting conditions ranging from excellent to very poor face the State's duck and goose hunters when the second half of California's split season opens at noon, Friday, December 15.

Admitting the weather conditions could (and probably will) change the prospects overnight, wardens of the Division of Fish and Game have gone out on a limb to forecast the probable situation on the opener.

Generally, stormy weather will mean less birds for Northern California hunters, but more for those in the southern half of the State. Thus, substantial storms in the last week could turn the wardens' advance prognostications topsy-turvey.

574 New Homes Planned For SM

Plans are ready but governmental restriction may prevent a $5,000,000, 574 home development project in San Mateo's Shoreview area, it was disclosed last week.

The project calls for completion of the residential part of the Shoreview project of more than 2500 homes east of the Bayshore Highway and south of Third avenue, subdivision 10.

William Greenbach, vice-president of Newbridge Park Realty Co., Shoreview developers, said that present restrictions, which require a sizeable down payment, would "put a stop" to the Shoreview home-building program.

He indicated that his firm wouldn't even attempt to finish construction in subdivision 9. Original plans warranted 514 homes in No. 9, but only 239 of these are included in the present building schedule.

These should be completed in two month, barring a recurrence of rainly weather, Greenbach disclosed.

"If we can't build houses next year, we will try to concentrate on our 11-acre commercial district planned for the area," he said.

The commercial district will include shopping and entertainment facilities to serve 200 Shoreview families.

The project may get started in April, Greenbach announced.

Officers Named For Bethel 198

Naming of officers for the coming year and a Christmas party are on the agenda of Bethel No. 198, IOJD this Friday evening.

Members will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Hall, 17 Hillcrest drive.

At that time the new Queen Pat Russell will announce the names of the officers she has chosen to assist her in the year ahead.

Also the young ladies will hold their annual Christmas party and exchange gifts.

California Floods Damage Hatcheries

The bill for flood damages to California fish hatcheries and their fish will come to about $30,000, the Division of Fish and Game has reported.

Following a recent state-wide survey, flood damages to hatchery buildings and installations was estimated at $20,000. In the hard-hit Kern River hatchery in Kern County, about 400,000 rainbow eggs were lost and 114,000 trout escaped into flood waters when concrete tanks were flooded.

Financial loss of fish and eggs at the Kern River installations was tallied at $9,000, which repairs will amount to $10,000.

TRUCKS STILL NEEDED FOR CHRISTMAS MAIL

The San Francisco Post Office still needs an additional 100 trucks to handle the Christmas mail rush, Postmaster John F. Fixa announced today as he called for bids for rented trucks of over 200 cubic feet capacity.

Van type trucks are preferred and all trucks must be in good condition to afford weather protection for the mails.

Bids will close at 2 p.m., Friday, December 15, 1950, and forms to submit proposals are obtainable at the U. S. Post Office Garage, 612 Bryant St.

Defective Autos To Be Checked

Taking a tip from San Francisco, San Mateo county state highway patrol officers will check cars for defects and drunken drivers during the holiday season.

Captain E. F. Cassell, of the highway patrol, said a series of vehicle equipment checks will be made at various times and places in San Mateo county during the Christmas season.

The same checks will be made on highways leading in and out of San Francisco, as well as in the Bay City itself.

Objects of the checks, which began this week, are to keep unsafe equipment off the road, alert motorists to the necessity for cautious driving, and reduce the holiday accident toll.

Faulty brakes and lighting, mechanical defects, etc., will result in citations to enforce corrections.

Thorpe Named New Bar Assn. Leader

W. H. Thorpe is the new president of the San Mateo County Bar Association.

Thorpe, a one-time policeman and police court judge in Redwood City, succeeds Elinor Flavey, deputy district attorney who has been president for the past year.

Other election results last week saw Saul N. Ross of San Bruno named vice-president, and W. H. Girvin of Redwood City named secretary-treasurer.

Robert J. Dell'ergo, chairman of the public relations committee, and Cyrus McMillian were added to the groups' board of directors.

The 65 members of the County Bar Association agreed to continue in office the groups public relations committee, and empowered it to confer with the board of supervisors on reapportionment of the county courts.

Give Your Blood To Save A Life On Korean Front

A program to secure blood for our wounded fighting men in Korea got under way Tuesday, December 5th, at the San Mateo County Blood Bank.

Norman Corlett, Manager of Borden's, was the first to give a pint of blood to the project which will be carried out by the San Mateo County Chapter, American Red Cross, and the Blood Bank. The process was a familiar one to Corlett who has given thirty-one pints of blood. Seventy-two donors followed Corlett's lead on Tuesday.

According to word received from military officers on the battlefields, blood is in short supply and is desperately needed to save the lives of the wounded.

Tuesdays from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. and Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. will be set aside as Red Cross days, according to Mrs. P. J. Hanzlik, Executive Secretary of the Blood Bank. All blood given at these times will go to the fighting front, heads of the Blood Service program said today.

Individuals between the ages of 18 and 60 may donate blood, and all who are able to do so are urged to call the Red Cross, DI 3-4561, for an appointment. Mrs. Henry Bostwick, Jr., Blood Service Chairman for the local Red Cross, issued an appeal to clubs and organizations to send groups of their members to the Blood Bank to aid in the program to save lives. Transportation for these units may be arranged for, she said, by contacting the Red Cross.

"I am sure everyone realizes the gravity of the present situation," Mrs. Bostwick said. "Do your part now, by calling DI 3-4561, and make a date to save a life. Our quota has been set at 600 pints of blood per month."

Home Nursing Courses Offered At SM High School

Through action of its Board of Trustees, the San Mateo Union High School District will incorporate into its curriculum two classes in Home Nursing.

These courses in "General Family Health and Care of the Sick in the Home," and "Mother and Baby Care" will become part of the required program for Senior girls. Action was taken by the Board on the suggestion of the San Mateo County Chapter, American Red Cross, and the endorsement of Will T. Van Voris, Superintendent of the High School District. For the past four years, these classes have been given in the schools by a Red Cross instructor on a demonstration basis.

Preparatory to launching the program under its new set-up, a five-day institute to train teachers is being conducted this week by the local Red Cross with cooperation of personnel from Pacific Area Red Cross headquarters in San Francisco. Van Voris has sent two school nurses and three economics teachers to the training class at The First Baptist Church in Burlingame. Substitutes have replaced these teachers for the duration of their training period.

Instructors for the class this week are Miss Edna Chapman and Mrs. Loy Doss, both from Pacific Area Red Cross office. Training from San Mateo Union High School District are Mrs. Martha Grannis and Miss Mildred Roberts, San Mateo High, Miss Florence Boddy and Miss Vera Maple, Burlingame High, and Miss Vivi Xerogeanes, Capuchino High. South San Francisco High School is also taking advantage of the training class, with the idea of incorporating the two Home Nursing courses into the regular school program. It has sent Mrs. Betty Hutchinson, a school nurse, to the Institute.

Attending from the local Red Cross are Mrs. Fay Andrews and Mrs. Edna May Nilssen. Red Cross officials expressed great satisfaction with the new program. They said that the cooperation of the Boards of Trustees of the High School Districts in authorizing the new program in their schools will be a tremendous step in the direction of having one person in each family trained in Home Nursing. This is the goal set for the Red Cross by the National Security Resources Board.

Where To Go, What To See Over The Christmas Holidays In California

A trip during the December holiday season can be made more enjoyable if motorists include in their itinerary some of the special holiday programs, pageants, community parties, festivals, traditional Christmas displays and colorful lighting effects to be found in practically every town and community throughout the State, according to the Travel and Recreation Committee of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

Each little community endeavoring to outdo its neighbor is transformed overnight into a Yuletide paradise resplendent with giant Santa Clauses, huge lighted outdoor Christmas trees that reach into the sky, and all types of colorful street and home decorations that glow by day and sparkle at night. Many exceed past splendor by stretching garlands and light strings high over head and cross the main thoroughfares. Merchants in each locality cooperate by dressing their store fronts and windows with the bright lights and ornaments of Christmas. Everywhere homes are ablaze with Christmas color and ornate decorations inside and out.

Christmas Decorations

Many towns annually feature a large decorated tree or lighted cross to symbolize Christmas.

For the first time since 1942, outdoor Christmas lighting contests in communities all over California are being promoted by the Outdoor Christmas Tree Association of California working in conjunction with local chambers of commerce, clubs and newspapers. The California State Chamber of Commerce sponsored this movement annually from 1936 to 1942 with gratifying success.

Not to be overlooked are the hundreds of traditional observances and special religious services held in churches and Missions throughout the State.

Big Attractions

The big attractions over the New Year's weekend are of course the world-famous 62nd annual Tournament of Roses in Pasadena on Monday, January 1, which precedes the important Rose Bowl classic, and the annual Shrine East-West game in San Francisco on Saturday, December 30.

The following is a complete list of events:

Annual Christmas Decorated Fire Houses, San Francisco, December 17-January 1.

Annual Shrine East West Football Game, Kezar Stadium, San Francisco, December 30.

Mexican Fiesta, Mountain View, December 11.

Christmas Pageant and Party, Mountain View, December 18-19.

26th Annual Nation's Christmas Tree Festival, Sanger, December 2-25.

Annual Christmas Tree Lane, Fresno, December.

Lompoc's "A Day at the Mission," Lompoc, December 3.

Fifth Annual "Christmas in Fairyland," Burbank, December 8-23.

Altadena Mile of Christmas Trees, Altadena, December 24-31.

62nd Annual Tournament of Roses, Pasadena, January 1.

Rose Bowl Game, Pasadena, January 1.

Traditional Christmas Plays, "Las Posadas" and "Los Pastores," Mission Playhouse, San Gabriel, December 24.

Guard Founding Leaders Honored

San Francisco members of California's Legion of Guardsmen, government-sponsored successor to the State Guard, will honor the memory of one of its founding leaders next Sunday, December 10, at 11 a.m., in Olivet Memorial Park, Colma. The public is invited.

The ceremonies will honor the late Captain Leonard J. Carl, founder and first commander of San Francisco Post No. 20 of the Legion of Guardsmen, and named after him. The present commander, Fred Schmidt, will preside.

The California Legion of Guardsmen, state financed, supplements the National Guard, contrating its energies on home defense. Officially named the California Defense and Security Corps, it is open to men of all ages, especially those with previous military experience. The Corpsmen meet at the San Francisco Armory, 14th and Mission streets, every Tuesday evening.

Sulfur deposits in Texas and Louisiana supply by far the largest part of the world's requirements.

Colma Woman Recovering From Fall

Recovering today from a fractured right shoulder she suffered last Thursday is Mrs. Charles Gult, 52, of Colma.

Mrs. Gult was going up the backstairs of her home Thursday morning when she slipped on the stairs. She fell over backwards and struck the ground on her back.

A neighbor noticed her helpless in the back yard and called police. Taken to Junipero Serra hospital, Mrs. Gult was treated for slight back injuries and the fractured shoulder.

SF Orphanage Receives New Bus

Heralding the 100th anniversary of Edgewood, The San Francisco Protestant Orphanage on February 2, 1951, boys and girls of the home today had received their first "birthday" gift—a new $5000 school bus.

The new vehicle, which will be used for school and vacation projects, was presented by Mrs. Philip Boone, president of the Edgewood Auxiliary, in behalf of the members of her group, to Mrs. E. Law-Edgewood Board of Directors. The ceremony took place in front of Mrs. Boone's home, 526 El Camino del Mar, preceding the benefit Christmas House Tour sponsored by the Auxiliary on Tuesday.

Seven hundred ticket holders participating in the tour visited six San Francisco homes which had been decorated for the holidays by the San Francisco Garden Club, Gordon Mills for Gump's, Martin Overlach and Kelley, Helen Van Cleave Park, Pedesta Baldocchi and members of Edgewood Auxiliary.

Approximately $1200 was raised by the tour which was the first benefit to be sponsored by the Auxiliary.

Bruno Man Blamed For Colma Deaths

A hit-run driver who killed two men on the Skyline Highway in Colma November 19 was found guilty of negligence by the San Mateo county coroner's jury this week.

Joseph V. Watkins, 28, a San Bruno printer, was arrested shortly after the accident by police. Officers claim Watkins was the driver of the automobile that struck and killed John Darrow, 59, Lincoln, Neb., and William Brophy, no home address available.

It is expected Watkins will be taken to trial for negligence and hit-run driving sometime next month.

Cyclotron Story Told By Explorer

In September of 1930 a young scientist first demonstrated a crude-looking object to a group of the nation's top scientists who were meeting at the University of California. That day marked an important milestone in science because the object was the demonstration model for the now famed atom-smasher—the cyclotron.

Thus, this year marks the 20th aniversary of the invention of the cyclotron by Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, Nobel Prize winning scientist who is Director of the Radiation Laboratory and professor of physics on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

In commemoration of this event, the University Exporer will trace the the scientific highlights leading to the development of the cyclotron and some of the accomplishments which have followed, in a radio broadcast to be heard over the Columbia Broadcasting System, December 17.

The program, which is called "The Growth of the Cyclotron," will be released over KCBS, San Francisco (12:45-1:00 p.m.).

SF City College Plans Brush Up Business Course

Dr. Louis G. Conlan, president of San rancisco City College, has just announced that the college is planning a new series of eight-week business brush-up courses beginning with the spring semester next February.

Courses are being planned in anticipation of increased demands for secretarial workers, and are so arranged that students can both work and go to school for half a day.

Knowland Given Scroll For Centennials Work

Joseph R. Knowland, chairman of the California Centennials Commission for the three years of its existence, was presented an elaborate scroll by his associates at a luncheon following the final meeting of the commission in San Francisco.

Legion Posts Asked To Back Study of PG&E

Colonel Benjamin B. Cassiday, Commander of San Mateo Post No. 82 of the American Legion, today announced that he was calling on other Legion Posts and service groups of the County to join with Post 82 in suggesting a proper study by the Planning Commission of work which the PG&E are now doing without permit through Millbrae and the Spring Valley Lake region.

Commander Cassiday said that this action was taken because of a resolution which was passed by Post 82 asking the Planning Commission to "withhold the granting of use permits to the PG&E . . . until a study could be made of the electrical engineering problems involved by an unbiased authority."

"It was felt," said Commander Cassiday, "that in order to develop an adequate alternative which would better preserve the natural beauty of the region, it would be necessary for the Planning Commission to consult an unbiased electrical engineering authority. Our resolution does not condemn, it merely asks what any honest citizen and taxpayer would want."

Protor Jones, an officer and active member of American Legion Post 82, has spear-headed an attack on methods used by the PG&E to gain their rights of way. He has pointed out that the PG&E has not secured work permits to proceed with the work as required under the planning ordinance.

Jones claimed that the PG&E has circumvented the duly constituted authorities of San Mateo County. He said, "We expect our service men abroad to defend the laws of the United States and of our community. I do not see how we can tolerate a weak-kneed attitude on the part of our public officials when it comes to simple enforcement of those laws at home."

Cassiday claimed that the American Legion has taken an interest from two points of view; "first, our interest in maintaining proper respect for the American legal system and duly constituted authority of this community, and second because of our interest in community betterment." He said, "We do not consider 100 foot power towers on 25 foot bases constructed in residential areas and in the naturally beautiful show places of our county to be in the interests of community betterment. As citizens we are not well served unless our county officials have expert advice in these technical matters involved here. That is what we have asked in our resolution."

The Legion hopes that all other service organizations in the county will investigate what is being done by the PG&E and will voice similar suggestions to Mr. C. A. Buck, the Chairman of the County Planning Commission.

Happy, Happy Birthday Mrs. Heinzle . . . Harry

Harry, the "happy baker" apologizes to Mrs. Rita Heinzle, 60 Mateo, for not listing her birthday last week.

It isn't that Harry forgot Mrs. Heinzle, but rather that somewhere in the shuffle her birthday card got mixed up with the thousands of recipes and cook books that Harry stores in his bakery.

So, although it is a few days late, Harry takes this opportunity to wish Mrs. Heinzle, who was a year younger December 12, the best of everything on her birthday and the years ahead. The same greetings were voiced on her birthday by her five children.

Children's Duties In A-Bomb Defense

Children have a big part to play in the defense against atom bombs, according to Dr. Albert W. Bellamy, professor of zoology and biophysics on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

"There are many things a child can do for the protection of himself and his family," said Dr. Bellamy. "At school he should follow instructions of the school authorities, but at home he can supervise many important functions."

One of the first duties he recommends for children is that of keeping the house and yard free from papers, boxes, old clothes and other combustible materials.

"See that everything has a place," the U. C. L. A. professor pointed out. "Toys, tools, flashlight, large candles, matches—everything should be in its proper place at all times.

"Keep a garden hose always connected to an outside faucet—preferably away from the house, so that fire cannot destroy it.

"In storing water, use old cider jugs and other large glass containers. Keep a two-day supply of boiled water in a safe place."

Older boys can undertake to build a small crystal radio receiver, Dr. Bellamy noted. This can be invaluable in getting news when radio and telephone power is cut off.

He listed a few "dont's." Don't repeat rumors. Don't tie up the roads; move only when and where directed. Don't fill the bathtub with water after a bomb drops, thus causing a rapid drop in city water pressure and interfering with fire fighting—besides, it may be contaminated. Don't eat anything that's open during an attack.

Restrictions, Rain Cut County Bldg.

Government building restrictions, coupled with heavy rains accounted for a sharp drop in San Mateo county building during November.

Only 113 permits for construction valued at $787,018 were issued last month for the unincorporated areas of the county, A. W. Russell, county building inspector, said today. This is about half of the $1,453,357 worth of construction done in November, 1949.

However, building during the 11 months of the year was greater in 1950 than in 1949. The total this year stands at $17,658,548, compared to $15,722,483 a year ago.

Grow Tea In S.F.? Yes, Says Director

Cultivation of tea in California has never been considered advisable as climatic conditions in other parts of the world seem to favor its growth more.

However, San Franciscans may now experiment in their backyards or window boxes by growing tea for their tables, for experiments in the Strybing Arboretum in Golden Gate Park have borne out the fact that tea-plants can be grown without difficulty in San Francisco's climate.

Eric Walther, director of the Arboretum, warns that the process of fomentation, rolling by hand, and sun drying of the tea is quite involved and meticulous, and might be somewhat discouraging as a hobby for busy San Franciscans.

Among the plants having economic value in the Arboretum is the Camellia, i.e., Camellia sinensis. This is the real tea-plant which is widely cultivated in tropical regions. Its flowers are small, single and of a whitish hue.

The tea-plant, now in flower at the Arboretum, is located at the southwest boundary of the garden of medicinal plants.

Fall On Stairs Misplaced Slug Hits DC Home Dining Room

Gunning with a .22 calibre rifle, some unidentified "slop" shooter put a slug through the dining room of the Dorr residence, 61 Citrus, last Thursday morning.

Fortunately no one was in the room at the time of the firing, police said.

The slug went through the dining room wall, glanced off another wall and fell in the living room.

Police today are looking for the man who has no regards for safe targets.

AWOL TB Patients Endanger Friends

Tuberculous veterans who leave Veterans Administration hospitals against doctor's orders or are absent without leave (AWOL) to visit their families during the Christmas holidays are endangering their own health as well as that of their families and communities, VA warned today.

VA hospital officials are urging relatives of tuberculous veterans to cooperate in persuading patients with active infection to remain in the hospital. At the same time, VA is cautioning relatives that patients must not be led to feel they are "not wanted" by their families.

Ordinarily during the Christmas season, VA said, patients who have progressed beyond the infectious point and for whom a brief interruption in treatment would not be harmful are given passes to go home.

Leaves to Minimum

VA doctors said they would like to reduce all leave-taking to an absolute minimum, but they recognize that such a policy runs counter to the desire of a large number of patients to be with their families during the holidays. The large number of patients granted leave is, in part at least, a reflection of the AWOL problem which results when too strict a leave policy is established, they added.

A study was made of the leave status last Christmas day of approximately 9,500 tuberculous patients on the rolls of 33 VA hospitals. Slightly more than 30 percent were on pass or leave, and for the month of December, 342 were AWOL or left against medical advice.

Treatment Needs

The need for continuous treatment is most essential for those patients who require 21 or more hours a day bed rest, VA said. These are patients who are at the more critical stage in the treatment of their disease.

To meet the problem, VA has furnished its hospitals with a list of methods used most successfully to prevent interruption in the treatment of tuberculous veterans.

Early discussion with patients to avoid their building up hopes of going home Christmas is an important factor in patient cooperation, VA said.

Various Methods

Other effective methods—in addition to obtaining family cooperation and understanding—are:

1. Development of mutual confidence between the physician and patient.
2. Demonstration of a personal interest in the patient by the hospital manager and other hospital personnel.
3. Continuous education of the patient on the subject of tuberculosis as it affects him.
4. Establishment of a pass and leave policy which is altered only slightly, if at all, during the holiday season.
5. Providing adequate entertainment.
6. Assistance to patients and their families in meeting personal problems.
7. Help in obtaining housing for families who come to visit patients at Christmas time.

When roads are made slippery by falling rain, slow down and be safe, advises the National Automobile Club.

Over $7,000,000 in gold was recovered in the vicinity of Columbia during early mining activity.

Yule Trees Can Increase Fire Hazards

That Christmas tree you are planning to set up in your home could be a major fire hazard unless you take a few precautions, Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy said today.

Tests made by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., demonstrated that Christmas trees of average size are easily ignited and burn furiously. The blaze could easily start a dangerous fire in the home.

Engineers of the National Board offer the following suggestions for making your Christmas tree safe:

1. Choose a small tree. It will be less hazardous.
2. Wait until a few days before Christmas to set up your tree.
3. Keep the tree outdoors until ready to set it up.
4. Place the tree in the coolest part of the house.
5. If a radiator is near the tree, shut it off.
6. Do not use cotton or paper decorations unless are flameproofed.
7. Do not place electric trains around the tree.
8. Do not use candles. Use electric lights instead.

THE FARMERS CORNER

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

Out of the reeent national meeting of the Illuminating Engineering Society at Pasadena has come news of interesting developments on two "war fronts" on which mankind has been engaged since the dawn of history. And, as with all developments in warfare, the news is of new and improved weapons of combat.

Mankind vs. the Insects

Up to perhaps a quarter of a century ago, educated thinkers seriously regarded the insects of this planet as formidable contenders with the human race for survival on earth. But that was before the amazing developments in chemistry that have made possible our modern and more effective methods of pest control.

No one worries nowadays that the insect world is actually going to kill off man as a species. Still—as every farmer knows!—insects remain a vexatious if not lethal foe. They cause billions in damage to agricultural products, and their retreat before the weapons of chemistry and other sciences is slow and stubborn.

The new weapon against them, announced at the meeting by Joe P. Ditchman, farm lighting engineer for General Electric, is called invisible or "black" light. Mr. Ditchman said experiments have shown that "black" light is extremely attractive to insects at night, and that traps baited, so to speak, with "black" light are being used to make a census of nocturnal pests toward planning more effective control measures.

Mankind vs. Hunger

Ditchman further reported that a wide variety of new incandescent and fluorescent light sources will in the future make the farmer less and less dependent upon sunlight and more independent of climatic conditions generally.

"Plants," he said, "may be grown successfully in a completely artificial environment of light, humidity, temperature, and even air. They appear to depend more upon successive rhythmic occurrences of light and dark periods than upon light intensity in the stimulation of flowering and fruiting."

Other experiments in radiant energy (light) have shown that it may be used to increase egg production and favorably affect the fertility of dairy cattle, according to Ditchman. Included, may in the future depend very much upon how well we learn to apply radiant energy to produce more and better food and better food and, also, to reduce the number of our plant and insect enemies."

In this period of history, when millions of people around the world are hungry, and there is not nearly enough food for all even if it were possible to distribute the supply evenly, every step that science can take toward those objectives is an important step indeed.

State Lauded For High School Driving Programs

Presentation of a bronze plaque honoring California for marked progress in safe driving instruction in the state's high schools during the past year featured last Thursday's opening meeting of the education section of the Governor's Traffic Safety Conference in the State Capitol.

The plaque represents the "Superior Award" of the annual Driver Education Award Program sponsored by the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies.

Roy Simpson, Superintendent of Public Instruction, accepted the award on behalf of the state. It was presented by Perry H. Taft of San Francisco, West Coast manager of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies. More than 100 of the state's leading educators attended the presentation ceremony.

Taft pointed out that in qualifying for the Superior Award, the program's highest honor, California offers courses in safe driving in 397 of its 423 secondary schools. More than 84,000 eligible students are enrolled in the courses, compared with 53,000 the previous academic year. The future drivers learning lessons in accident prevention now represent 86 per cent of the students eligible for such courses in California. The state last year made driver education a required course for all high schools.

The program's impact on the accident record of young driver's is indicated by a spot check made this year by the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies. This survey showed that drivers trained in high school had only one accident to every three in which teen-age operators not so trained were involved.

This year all 48 states have driver education programs in their schools, nearly twice the 1948 total of 25 states. A total of 551,723 students were enrolled in these courses in 6,995 U. S. high schools during the academic year ended last June. They represent one-third of the nation's students and schools eligible for the courses.

YOUR NEW SOCIAL SECURITY

By E. J. FOLEY

A dependent husband, as well as a dependent wife, is eligible to old-age and survivors insurance payments under the amended social security law.

Beginning this September, the dependant husband of a woman who, through her own work in a social security job became entitled to old-age benefit payments at any time after 1939, is also entitled to insurance payments.

This gives to the dependent husband the same old-age and survivors benefits that the dependent wife has always had under social security. To qualify as a dependent husband, he must have the status of husband of the insured woman worker under State law and be the father of her son or daughter, or have been married to her for not less than three years immediately preceding the day on which the application was filed.

The dependent husband must be 65, or over, be living with the woman worker at the time he files the application for insurance payments, and have been receiving at least one-half of his support from the woman worker at the time she became entitled to old-age insurance benefits. The dependent husband's insurance benefit payments will be one-half the amount payable to the insured woman worker on whom he is dependent.

The insurance benefits to the dependent husband will stop if the marriage is ended absolutely and finally, or if he becomes entitled to benefits equal to his benefits as a dependent, or if either the woman worker or the dependent dies.

My next article will deal with Mothers' Insurance Benefits under the amended social security law.

The warm-blooded platypus is not truly amphibious, since it breathes ordinary air and will drown if held under water for more than three minutes.

AUTOMOBILE PRODUCTION

Automotive factories in the United States turned out a total of 6,758,418 motor vehicles during the first ten months of 1950, according to the National Automobile Club. Of this total, 5,640,047 were passenger cars, 1,114,720 were motor trucks ,and 3,651 were motor coaches.

CLEAN, LUBRICATE, CLEAN

Over-lubrication is decidedly harmful in one way, and it is a way that does not occur to the average motorist, points out the National Automobile Club. Oil and grease attract and retain dirt and dust. Therefore, any excess of lubricant left around a bushing or bearing is likely to permit a collection of dirt to gather, work its way into the moving parts and cause a greater rate of wear. Wipe off any excess grease or oil.

Christmas Begins In The Kitchen

Gifts right out of the kitchen go proudly to your friends and neighbors. Nor do these warm-hearted, personal gifts need to take much time or money. Lady's Choice to give or receive are holiday hospitality gifts.

Make your favorite salad dressing. Ladle it into a ruby red glass or a deep green one; cap it with a jiffy-seal and wrap it atractively, being sure to include your recipe typed on a file card.

Are you famous for your hors d'oeuvres? Your friends will bless you for a little bowl of spread given with a box of fancy melba toast, ready for their holiday entertaining.

Good Sauce

Consider your spaghetti sauce; Tom 'n Jerry batter; refrigerator cookies — either baked or the chilled roll wrapped in foil. Whatever your kitchen speciality, it has Christmas possibilities.

Your grocer has many gift ideas on his shelves, too. Select half a dozen Lady's Choice ice cream toppings and arrange them in a tiny toy drum. Choose glasses of colorful jellies and jams and pack them in a straw bread basket. Wonderful Lady's Choice pickles, olives and relishes can be stored away in a bright pottery casserole or wooden chopping bowl.

Wrap your kitchen gifts in swirls of gay cellophane or a length of quaint percale print (with the hint it can be made into a kitchen apron or pot holders later) and make it the merriest possible Christmas.
